Webster Quits as CCF Leader

FAITHFUL PUP LOOKS OUT FOR MASTER

CURLING PLAYOFF FORCED

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Ontario and Manitoba were tied after the final round of the Canadian curling championships and will meet tonight in a sudden-death playoff for the title.

A five-end on the eleventh gave Ontario its tie-breaking 15-9 victory over Nova Scotia, 10 minutes after Manitoba had been defeated 12-10 by Saskatchewan.

Terrorist Archbishop Deported

Latest U.K. Move In Cyprus Crisis

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—Archbishop Makarios, bearded 43-year-old leader of the campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece, today was deported from this British Mediterranean colony.

British authorities, announcing that Makarios had been sent away with three other Greek Orthodox Church leaders, said the action was taken "in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government."

A statement said Makarios had refused to abandon the "weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

It said British authorities have found evidence he was "personally implicated" in the activities of EOKA, an underground organization which has used violence in pressing the union-with-Greece campaign.

The statement said Governor Sir John Harding, in negotiations with Makarios, had gone to the "limit of conciliation and concession" in the hope that the archbishop might be "induced to denounce violence."

"This hope now has been disappointed by the archbishop's refusal to abandon the weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

"The government has therefore reluctantly concluded that the archbishop constitutes a major obstacle to return to peaceful conditions and that his influence must therefore be removed from the island in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government."

Deported along with Makarios were Bishop Kyprianos—one of the three senior bishops of the island—and two other priests.

The four Greek Orthodox churchmen were flown to an unknown destination.

The deportation orders were signed by governor Sir John Harding under emergency regulations which have been in effect as a result of violence throughout the island.

British paratroopers, meanwhile, searched the archbishop's home.

Negotiations between Makarios and British representatives on the future of Cyprus broke down last week and Britain announced it would make a determined effort to end terrorist violence.

"Dawley ran a hot dog stand at Horseshoe Bay in 1951, and joined an ironworkers' union in 1952, when he worked on the Granville street bridge," Cpl. Nuttall said.

He added that he had picked Dawley up in Montreal after his escape from Vancouver General Hospital in 1954.

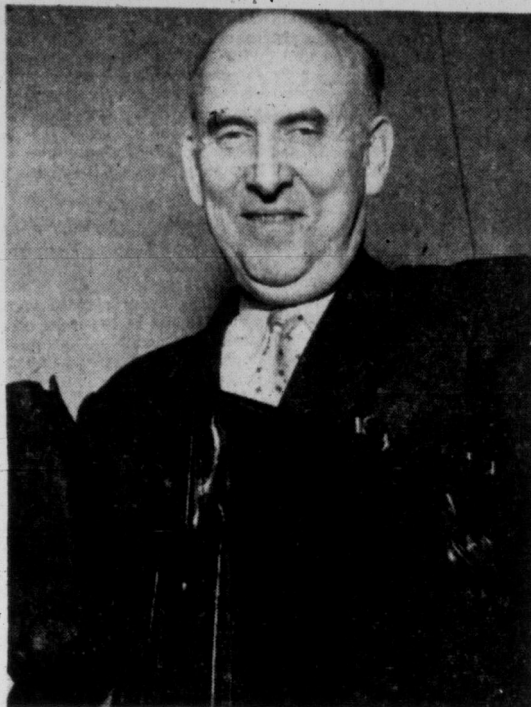

Other witnesses were A. Hoare, B.C. Electric Security officer, former Vancouver detective, who identified Dawley as being a man under investigation that led to a conviction in Vancouver in 1940.

Det. Sgt. Donald Ross, Vancouver police, corroborated Hoare's evidence. Det. W. V. Barkley, who investigated some of Dawley's activities in 1940, also testified.

PM Gives Final Word Today on Tax Deal

Bennett Sure St. Laurent Will Bow To B.C.'s Concept of 'Fair Rental'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today his government will tell the federal-provincial conference later today "how far we can go" and then leave it to the provinces to do what they want about fiscal arrangements.

After the morning session of the conference, he told reporters he or Finance Minister Harris will reply to various proposals put forward by premiers at the opening session.

The prime minister said he heard no new suggestions this morning from seven premiers outlining their proposals.

These constituted all except Nova Scotia—whose Premier Hicks was delayed by a storm—Alberta and Newfoundland.

Pre-conference information from federal sources was to the effect that, unless some new concept of federal-provincial fiscal relations was suggested at the conference, the central government would stick by the tax-sharing formula it proposed in January.

Before this morning's meeting, Premier Frost of Ontario said he would propose major changes in the tax-sharing plan but added he was willing to consider compromises.

"UNFAIR" SAYS BENNETT
Premier Bennett of British Columbia, only other premier advocating a major boost in the proposed federal tax formula, described the federal offer as "unfair."

The central government has proposed federal tax deductions of 10 per cent of the personal income tax, nine per cent of corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties in provinces which levy tolls in these fields.

In addition there would be federal equalization payments to bring the per capita direct tax yields of the less wealthy provinces to the average of the top two—Ontario and British Columbia.

Mr. Bennett said that in the case of Quebec the equalization payments and direct tax deductions would amount to federal allowances in that province of 26 per cent of personal income tax, 9 per cent on corporation income and 50 per cent on succession duties.

All B.C. wants, he said, is a 20-10-50 deal.

"We want a fair rental and I'm sure we'll get it."

Premier Dupuis of Quebec declined to make any statement, saying "we're here just to get news."

Mr. Glubb, head of the Arab Legion until King Hussein fired him last week, issued his caution Thursday night as another British veteran in Arab politics counselled Prime Minister Eden on the Middle East crisis.

Sir Alexander Kirkbride, former British envoy to Jordan, met Eden after a two-day visit to Amman, during which he conferred with 20-year-old King Hussein.

Meanwhile, the government chiefs of Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria went into the fourth day of their conference in Cairo, promising that an im-

Harding Favored As His Successor

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster has resigned as leader of the B.C. CCF Party, and will not seek re-election in the next provincial election.

The CCF will name a new leader at the annual convention April 6 and 7, in Vancouver.

The CCF House caucus will meet in Vancouver the night before the convention opens to decide on a recommendation to the convention on the leadership issue.

Procedure under the CCF constitution calls for the first nomination for leadership to come from the caucus.

Randolph Harding is considered to have the support of the majority of CCFers in B.C., if he would allow his name to stand.

Mr. Webster's resignation was made public today by provincial president Frank McKenzie, and CCF whip Arthur Turner. The announcement came as the CCF leader marked his 57th birthday today.

He told The Times from Vancouver "my mind was made up six months ago."

"I haven't been able to adjust myself to full-time work in politics," said Mr. Webster. "I didn't want to go into another election, and thought now is the time."

The 14-member CCF group in the legislature was told of Mr. Webster's resignation plans at a late caucus the night the legislative session prorogued.

They kept the secret, because Mr. Webster wanted it made clear his resignation had nothing to do with the turmoil surrounding the dying hours of the session.

His present plan is to continue to sit as a private member for Vancouver-East until the next election.

In his letter of resignation to the party, Mr. Webster said "my reasons are entirely personal and not related in any way to policy matters or to current political developments."

"I hope to return to work in the field of education from which I retired three years ago to devote my full time to public service. For that reason, I do not propose to be a candidate in the next provincial election."

Mr. Webster has been active in the CCF party in B.C. since its inception in 1933. He tried for the House of Commons four times—1935, 1940, 1945 and 1949. Four successive defeats failed to discourage him. He was prepared to try again, when he was called on to take over provincial leadership.

IT WAS WELT, NOT BELT; CROSSWORD PRIZE NOW $150.

A matter of relative distance fooled a lot of crossworders this week and no one came up with an answer to the puzzle.

For the definition "on a man's apparel this is far down" the answer was the "welt" of his shoe rather than his belt, which is only half way down his body.

With no winner the prize jumps another $25. The full explanation for last week's puzzle, with the new puzzle worth $150 to a bonus winner, is on Page 25.

Means Test Change Needs Provincial OK

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial governments would have to approve any change in means-test regulations governing old-age assistance payments, Health Minister Martin said today.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) asked in the Commons whether the federal government would consider changing the basis of valuing homes owned by pensioners.

He was referring to the $40 maximum pensions paid to needy persons between 65 and 69, jointly financed by federal and provincial governments. Persons over 70 receive a universal $40 pension without a means test.

Mr. Knowles said the means test regulations provide that 5 per cent of the assessed value of a house is counted as income of a home-owning pensioner. But home assessments were being increased in Winnipeg and elsewhere. Would the regulation be changed so that the pension would not be reduced?

Mr. Martin replied that the regulations are devised by federal and provincial governments. The central government has no control over them.

NEW DELHI (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Dulles arrived in India's capital today amid hopes that his talks with Prime Minister Nehru will bolster sagging Indian-American relations. But few expect that any major change in either country's policy will result.

Observers are apprehensive that Dulles' role in the recent SEATO endorsement of Pakistan's demand for a United Nations plebiscite in the bitterly disputed state of Kashmir will have a damaging effect on the talks.

KNOW YOUR TEACHER

In the belief that parents of children attending schools in the Greater Victoria area are interested in knowing about personalities of the teachers who educate them, the Times continues a series of "Know Your Teacher." The articles will appear three times a week. The Teachers' Association is co-operating.

A native Victorian, Miss Kathleen M. Thompson, 332 Linkleas, has so far spent her teaching career on Vancouver Island, having started with eight grades in a one-room school at Otter Point in 1930.

She now instructs in commercial subjects, is girls' counselor and engages in a variety of extra-curricular duties at S. J. Willis Junior High School, where she has been posted since the school opened.

In Victoria she attended Monterey Elementary, Oak Bay High, Victoria College and Victoria Normal School and obtained her bachelor's degree through winter and summer sessions at University of British Columbia.

Her second charge, after five years at Otter Point, was another five-year term at Chemainus, then Willows and Mount Douglas High for five years each prior to her present job.

Miss Thompson is co-sponsor of S. J. Willis Student Council and of the school bank, organized three years ago. She also sponsors the flower arranging club, and outside school is secretary of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

KATHLEEN M. THOMPSON

Her hobbies are weaving and travelling, and two years ago she was caught in the French general transport strike on a visit to England, France, Italy and Switzerland.

Miss Thompson lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson and a sister Thelma.

SIU Out to Smash Tugboat Men's Union

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Seafarers' International Union (AF-LTU) declared war Thursday on a small B.C. tugboat men's union in a sequel to one of the most bitter fights in the British Columbia's labor history.

SIU agent Norm Cunningham said his union will attempt to seize bargaining rights of the West Coast Seamen's Union (Ind.), remnant of the old TUC-expelled Canadian Seamen's Union.

He charged leaders of the WCSU were Communists, that its president, James Thompson, was a Labor-Progressive party candidate in 1945, and another official was chairman of B.C. Peace Council.

SAYS HE QUIT PARTY
Thompson agreed he was a Labor-Progressive candidate, but said he left the Communist party "several years ago."

"And just because one of our men was chairman of the Peace Council, does that make him a Communist?" he asked.
Cunningham said the SIU was "going out to do a job for the WCSU members who are working for miserable wages on B.C. tugboats."

He said the tugboat crews start at a basic $189 a month, work 12 hours a day and receive no overtime pay. The rate goes up to $196 after the first year.

"The lowest any SIU member is

Second Child Sees With Eye Of Dead Priest

MILAN, Italy (Reuters)—An Italian priest's plan to continue his life-long work of aiding the poor and sick of Italy's children even after his death has won a second success.

A blind girl, Amabile Battistella, 17, regained her sight today with the aid of a cornea left to her by Rev. Don Carlo Gnecchi when he died last week.

Amabile underwent a grafting operation a week ago together with a 12-year-old blind boy, Silvio Colagrande. His operation was also successful and he was able to see when Prof. Cesare Galeazzi, the specialist who carried out the transplant, removed his bandages Wednesday.

Galeazzi cautioned that it was too early to say definitely that restoration of the children's eyesight would be permanent. The boy and girl were inmates of institutions founded by Father Gnecchi for the care of blind and crippled children.

Winnipeg Homes Under Flood Threat

Manitoba Girds for Battle as Forecasters Predict Red River to Rise Over Dikes

Winnipeg (CP)—A more serious flood threat to Greater Winnipeg and southern Manitoba than previously predicted was raised Thursday following a meeting of the provincial flood forecasting committee.

The committee said in a statement that on the basis of the latest survey of snow conditions in the Red River basin and assuming that a normal breakup will occur, the river is expected to rise 22½ feet above datum—average winter ice level—or six inches higher than was forecast two weeks ago.

The latest forecast rise would place the river level six inches above the top of the secondary dike protecting hundreds of homes in the residential area of Elm Park in suburban St. Vital. Also threatened are many homes outside the main dikes running along three residential streets—Lyndale Drive, Glenwood Crescent and Scotia Street.

Elm Park, a narrow, low peninsula formed by a bend of the river, was submerged in the 1950 flood disaster.

The committee said the flood threat along the Assiniboine running from eastern Saskatchewan through southern Manitoba will be "slightly worse" than previously predicted. Under normal breakup conditions flood stages along the river will rise within one or two feet of the high recorded last year when thousands of acres of farm land were inundated.

PLAN NEW SURVEY
A new survey of the Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan watershed of the Assiniboine will be started Monday and a further report will be made when the study is completed.

Diking commissioner J. R. Coyan said the dikes which protect this city of 400,000 were in "good condition" and the system of pumping stations built along the dikes was "excellent."

A wild winter blizzard which slashed eastern Canada with 50-mile-an-hour winds, snow and freezing rain whirled out today over the Atlantic.

The residents, reeling under Thursday's blast, which tore down phone and power lines, blocked roads, paralyzed traffic and claimed at least seven lives, learned more trouble may be brewing in a Maritime disturbance.

The weatherman said a storm over Iowa is moving toward southern Ontario today. Snow, with risk of freezing rain, is forecast to reach southwestern districts this afternoon and touch Toronto tonight.

The precipitation will not be as heavy or as continuous as in Wednesday's storm, the weatherman said.

Many homes were flooded or without heat in the blizzard area where the storm disrupted power lines.

The rampaging Allegheny River, which threatened Salamanca, southwestern New York industrial city, and Warren, Pa., Thursday, was dropping from record heights.

Crisis in Divorce

PARLIAMENT NOW FACES AN immediate crisis in the divorce law of Canada. As Mr. Grant Dexter reports in The Winnipeg Free Press, some 500 petitions for divorce are now before the Senate and the Commons, which simply have no time to deal with them properly. Some may be found out of this impasse. It would have been found long ago if Parliament had not lacked the political courage to face up to the divorce problem.

The new crisis arises out of an old history.

The Fathers of Confederation placed exclusive jurisdiction over divorce in Parliament. But the three founding colonies of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick brought into Confederation their existing divorce laws.

Thus Nova Scotia continued to grant divorces for adultery, cruelty or impotence; New Brunswick for consanguinity, frigidity, impotence and adultery.

Canada (now Ontario and Quebec) had no divorce laws. In these provinces anyone desiring a divorce had to go to Parliament and seek the passage of a parliamentary act of divorce.

By 1930 Parliament found itself overwhelmed by some 500 divorce petitions from Quebec and Ontario. That situation was so intolerable that, under pressure from the late J. S. Woodsworth, Parliament decided to set up divorce courts in Ontario. It did not dare to alter the existing situation in Quebec.

Recently divorce petitions have been pouring in from Quebec and from the new province of Newfoundland, where no divorce courts have been established. As Mr. Dexter says, Parliament cannot adequately consider all these petitions.

Actually they go to a Senate committee, which passes on them and its judgment is accepted, almost automatically by the House of Commons—an almost farcical proceeding and extremely expensive to the petitioners.

If a divorce petition is not opposed it will cost the petitioner over $1,000. If it is opposed the cost will be higher. It is almost impossible for a poor man or woman in Quebec or Newfoundland to secure a divorce even if there are undoubted legal grounds for it.

As in 1930, Parliament must now escape the growing load of divorce legislation. It can do so by the simple act of establishing divorce machinery in Quebec and Newfoundland.

Why has it not done so already? Mr. Dexter gives a blunt answer:

"The case against divorce by act of Parliament is overwhelming. The reason why so many members are blind to it is that if you believe that divorce is a deadly sin and if this belief is a religious conviction, you must always vote 'No.' You cannot vote for a divorce bill and you cannot vote for a bill to create more efficient machinery for dealing with divorce. You cannot have anything to do with divorce. This is why the Senate and the House of Commons cling so tenaciously to what, admittedly, is a most unjust method of dealing with divorce. This is the cause of Parliament's paralysis."

"But," Mr. Dexter adds, "the majority in Parliament is not Roman Catholic and is not opposed to divorce. The votes which defeat reform bills are non-Catholic votes cast by members who believe that if they voted otherwise their party might be regarded as a pro-divorce party and suffer in areas where divorce is condemned. Only when these members face perils more alarming than those associated with divorce do they heed the need for reform."

Will they heed those perils now? Or must political cowardice maintain the existing farce?

That question will soon be answered. Separate bills have been introduced in the Senate and the Commons to authorize the Exchequer Court of Canada to handle divorce cases in Quebec and Newfoundland. These bills will be approved or rejected at the present session. They do not change the single ground for divorce prevailing in most provinces. That ground is adultery. Alone among most of the civilized nations, Canada will not permit divorce for desertion, for insanity and other sound reasons. Only in Nova Scotia may divorces be granted for cruelty.

Our whole divorce system should be brought up to date and would be except for the political reasons mentioned by Mr. Dexter. Meanwhile the law is systematically evaded by the well-known procedure of collusive divorces.

If Parliament will now free itself of judicial functions outside its proper scope, by handing Quebec and Newfoundland divorces over to the Exchequer Court, some progress will have been achieved. But the main problem of unrealistic law, unjust to many unfortunate married persons and quite obsolete in our present society, will remain so long as Parliament continues to play politics with divorce.

Events Answer Mr. Dulles

JUST BEFORE HE FLEW TO THE SEATO conference in Karachi Mr. Dulles assured the United States Senate that the free world was winning the cold war, that Russia's old policy had failed and that its new policy of apparent conciliation would fail also.

Since Mr. Dulles' astounding testimony before the Senate several things have happened to discredit it. As Mr. George F. Kennan, perhaps the ablest student of Russian affairs in the West, remarks, "I do not recognize the world Mr. Dulles is talking about."

The hard facts of the real world are very different from the imaginary world described by Mr. Dulles. The West suddenly finds itself today facing the gravest crisis since the end of the Korean War.

If the risks of peaceful Communist penetration are subtle and not easily seen, the threat of war in the Near East is overt and imminent—a war ostensibly between a few small states but actually a struggle between the great world powers for a vital strategic area.

At the same time France is striving desperately, without much success, to hold its position in North Africa. And suddenly, at the SEATO conference, the French Government announces that it intends to seek "more contact" with the Communist world since it cannot subdue the Communists at home.

Meanwhile an alarmed British Parliament is highly critical of the United States for failing to stand adequately behind Britain and the Baghdad defence agreement. Sir Anthony Eden says Britain will uphold the 1950 declaration by which it, the United States and France guaranteed to keep the peace in the Near East, "with all its possible ominous consequences for the people of this country." Where, Britain asks, will the United States stand?

All these events, and others, endanger the lifelines of the free world which has been lulled into complacency by an economic boom, by the Kremlin's grin and by such prophets as Mr. Dulles.

This year was generally advertised at its beginning as a year of what the Republican Party campaigners call "peace and prosperity." Not yet three months old, 1956 already begins to look like one of the most dangerous years since the last war.

Capital Punishment

IN THIS COUNTRY WE HAVE leaped too quickly to the conclusion that capital punishment is to be abolished immediately in Britain. It is true that the House of Commons, by a majority of 31, passed a resolution in favor of the abolition of hanging for an experimental period. But this motion has yet to be implemented in law, and the law still orders execution in murder cases.

The Eden Government has no intention of introducing any amendment to the law. If it is to be amended some private member must introduce the necessary legislation and then the members of the Commons can vote as they please, regardless of party ties.

Actually Mr. Sydney Silverman, a private member, introduced such legislation some months ago but it has never reached a vote. Mr. Eden says the Government will facilitate the discussion of this proposal at the proper time, but members of the Government intend to oppose it strongly.

It is also reported that some of the 48 Conservative private members who voted to abolish hanging, on a general motion, are not sure now whether they will vote for a bill to implement this decision.

Finally the views of the House of Lords have yet to be expressed. It is considered doubtful that the abolitionists can muster a majority in the upper chamber, which must approve all legislation before it becomes law.

Mr. Gaitskell, leader of the Labor Party and a strong abolitionist, has warned the Lords that they should not venture to reject a decision of the Commons on so important a matter. In a thinly veiled threat, Mr. Gaitskell says that those members of his party who support the existence of the upper chamber might change their minds if the hereditary Lords over-rule the elected Commons.

Obviously the long struggle to abolish capital punishment is only in its first stages.

Stock-Taking in the U.S.

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

IN recent testimony before executive sessions of both the Congressional Armed Services Committee, the Secretary of the Air Force and the Chief of the Air Staff have now officially confirmed all the darkest unofficial reports about the relative status of American and Soviet air-atomic power. The following items from this sworn testimony of Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles and Gen. Nathan Twining, will be enough to give the general picture.

Item: It has long been reported that this country was lagging far behind the Soviet Union in production of long range jet bombers; but Quarles and Twining at last revealed how enormous the lag really is. It can be stated on undoubted authority that they gave our current output of B-52 bombers as only four per month, and in contrast stated that Soviet output of the comparable "Bison" bombers was almost certainly three times as large.

These current monthly output rates, of four B-52s against 12 "Bisons", do not tell the whole story either. Quarles and Twining further admitted that we would not reach our planned peak output of 17 B-52s per month for at least another year and a half. The Soviets are working towards a peak output of 25 "Bisons" per month, and they will reach their high peak considerably sooner than we shall reach our much lower peak.

BALLISTIC MISSILE
Item: It has also been reported, for the first time in this space, that the Soviets were already flight-testing a ballistic missile of 1,500-mile range. No comparable ballistic missile has as yet passed the drawing-board stage in this country. Once again on undoubted authority, it can now be stated that Secretary Quarles and Gen. Twining admitted these facts, stating they had sure evidence that the Soviets were indeed testing a 1,500-mile ballistic missile.

Item: It has also been reported that the Soviets' "Farmer" dayfighter and "Flashlight" nightfighter were advanced designs of high quality; that these "Farmers" and "Flashlights" were already being produced in substantial quantities; and that no comparable advanced American fighter aircraft had yet entered the stage of serious quantity production. Again on undoubted authority, it can be stated that Quarles and Twining admitted these facts too.

Our really superior F-104 dayfighter is not in production at all. Our only good nightfighter, the F-102, is being produced in tiny trickles. Our rather unsatisfactory F-100 dayfighter, which may well not offer adequate opposition to the Soviet "Bison", is officially in quantity production, but the quantities being produced are still trivial. Meanwhile the Soviets' output of "Farmers" and "Flashlights" will shortly be counted in many scores per month.

U.S. NUCLEAR LEAD

Our stock of nuclear weapons remains far greater than the Soviet stock, and will not doubt always remain far greater. But their nuclear stockpile is now approaching decisive proportions. Meanwhile they are presently well ahead of us in the best type of bombers that must deliver the bombs, in the fighters that must intercept the bombers, and in the medium range ballistic missiles which foreshadow the ultimate weapon, the missile of intercontinental range. That is the present picture, as officially outlined.

In these circumstances, Air Secretary Quarles' testimony about the Air-Force budget itself was truly remarkable. The Air Force General Staff, he admitted, had originally proposed a minimum budget of $20,000,000,000. He had himself cut the staff request to $18,500,000,000, which he seemed personally to have regarded as rockbottom. But Secretary of Defence Charles E. Wilson none the less ordered a further slash, to $16,500,000,000. And Quarles yielded to Wilson, although he said this final concession to the treasury and budget bureau really did make the Air Force budget "very austere indeed."

"ONE-SHOT SAVINGS"
Quarles still further admitted that this "austere budget" was crowded with "one-shot savings" which could not be repeated next year. Because of this heavy borrowing from next year's Peter to pay election year's Paul, Quarles testified that the Air Force budget would have to be massively increased next year unless the strength of the Air Force was instead heavily reduced.

Meanwhile, there was no talk whatever, except from the shocked Senators and Representatives, about a great emergency effort to overcome the air lead the Soviets have now achieved. Secretary Quarles took refuge in a cloud of technicalities. The unhappy Gen. Twining contented himself with saying we still retained greater air-atomic power than the Soviet Union as of now, with melancholy emphasis on the "as of now."

But what about two years, or three years, or four years from now, when it will be too late to catch up, and the decisive results? Our rather unsatisfactory F-100 dayfighter, which may ever, except from the shocked Senators and Representatives, about a great emergency effort to overcome the air lead the Soviets have now achieved. Secretary Quarles took refuge in a cloud of technicalities. The unhappy Gen. Twining contented himself with saying we still retained greater air-atomic power than the Soviet Union as of now, with melancholy emphasis on the "as of now."

PROBLEM IN BRAINPOWER

By ART STOTT

Competition for Experts

ALL over the continent concern is expressed over the limited number of students equipping themselves as competent scientists, engineers and experts in work which calls for intensively specialized study.

More men are needed to pursue the multitude of avenues opened by nuclear physics. And more are required in this part of the world to conduct the same exploitation of rich natural resources.

British Columbians are deeply involved in this shortage. They are, moreover, confronted with one of the major problems—almost an inflationary problem—created by it.

The man with the big money can usually outbid others for the limited number of skilled minds available. Probably in no other field is this shown more clearly than in B.C. forestry.

The Government service cannot compete against the high salaries industry offers the men who can bring it higher returns. If the B.C. Forest Service sets up a pay scale for top-flight foresters equivalent to that established by industry, what happens to the rest of the civil service? Does it accept the theory of an elite in its ranks—a group which is paid on a higher scale because it can claim bigger money outside? It does not. It regards the difference in income as discriminatory.

DEDICATED SERVANTS

Only a particular type of dedication can hold the cream of forest experts in public service despite the inducements offered by industry—and that type of dedication has existed to a remarkable degree.

This does not suggest that industry and public service are irreconcilably at war. Fortunately there is a measure of co-operation between the two. The Dean of Forestry at UBC, for instance, along with some of his staff, works in industry during the long vacation. And inter-departmentally a sense of values has been struck—a former forester is now engaged in Port Alberni High School teaching students who want to study that course.

Beyond this, industry has shown a readiness to help finance studies in the department in which it is particularly interested at the university.

It has endowed certain chairs there and anyone taking forestry may draw benefits from them, be he planning a career in industry or in the provincial service.

But when industry puts money into a student, as it does generously, it is looking for a return. That return comes from the graduate who takes a job with the firm sponsoring him. Generally speaking industry does not educate foresters for direct enrolment in the B.C. Forest Service.

The result of these policies has been to deny the provincial service its share of the bright young men who graduate, and even to deplete the ranks of those who have gone into the forest service, increased their competency there, and responded later to the more enticing lures of high pay in industry.

MACMILLAN EXAMPLE

This is not a new development. Mr. H. R. MacMillan himself blazed trail for that philosophy.

There have been, of course, certain compensations for those who have stayed with the department—and the need for the department is obvious.

Without it, industry with its eye honestly focussed on its own particular interests, might be inclined to dominate forestry for its own particular advantage. Even firms which take a long-term view of forestry are apt to lose enthusiasm for policies which can be effective only over the space of nearly a century.

And the compensating factor to many men who have remained with the public service reaches well beyond questions of security and stability in employment. It has been based, in a gratifyingly large number of instances, on the desire to render a service to the province, on the proper enjoyment of a sense of accomplishment, and on the respect that such an outlook wins among men.

But that point of view can only flourish when the department is happy. Recently such has not been the case.

If British Columbia is to meet the challenge of the times—if it is to establish a workable balance between the demands of the industry, the requirements of a public service needed to protect a public resource, it will have to re-establish that team spirit and co-operation which was a hallmark of the service until recent years. And the fault does not lie with the civil service branch.

GRATEFULLY APPRECIATED

The board of management of the V.O.N. wishes me to express our thanks to you and the members of your staff for the excellent publicity we received during V.O.N. Week.

The willing co-operation we receive, not only during this time but all through the year from the reporters and photographers, is most gratefully appreciated, and makes my job much easier.

'HOGWASH'

Reference your Racial Discrimination editorial of 2nd March, Bill 33, otherwise The Fair Employment Practices Act, as presented, seems innocuous enough, but it doesn't tell the whole story by any means. Intelligence sources both in Canada and the U.S. warn that it is a subterfuge of the Communists to propagate their evil doctrines and sabotage our national life. The Act, ostensibly for the protection of society at large, and cloaked in such high-sounding terms as "tolerance, brotherhood and general welfare" etc. is a most seductive trap for the unwary. Psalm 120 describes the powers behind such hogwash perfectly as "lying lips and a deceitful tongue. . . . Woe is me that I sojourn in Meshech (Moscow)."

Like Mr. Gregory, I'm agin the government.

ISRAEL AND THE ARABS

The situation in the Middle East must give many a lot to think about. The Columbia Broadcasting System sent its European (London) News Commentator Howard K. Smith over there to investigate. Last Sunday, March 4, 10.15, over KIRO, he reported on what he found.

He made it quite clear that the original setup of the Israeli state is at fault, by dispossessing hundreds of thousands of Arabs, who—and whose ancestors—had been living there for more than thirteen centuries, without any compensation; who had sought refuge in adjoining Arab states and are trying to exist there under deplorable conditions. And the U.S.A. and Britain are mainly responsible for letting the Jews inflict this outrage on those dispossessed Arabs.

So, it is no wonder that the Arabs are fed up and pull together to get a proper compensation for those refugees and are willing to go to war for their rights if things are not straightened out by the responsible parties in this dispute.

Would any other people like it if a horde of greedy strangers was going to invade their land; robbed them of their livelihood, forced them to leave their country to lead a miserable existence somewhere else? Certainly not. It is high time that justice is done.

F. H. STAVEMAN,
Langford Lake.

THE SOCIALIST ECONOMICS

Perhaps somewhat sadly we must agree that Karl Marx spoke one truth at least, in his broad statement "Labour produces all wealth" in Das Kapital.

I cannot claim to "belong to the CCF" because I am unable to devote the time such a great party should get from thinkers who wish to see Canada advance.

The Labor government was scrupulously fair and paid (in bonds mainly) a fair market price for industries they nationalized. The army was sent in to the docks to see that nobody starved as the result of a strike which was very possibly Communist-inspired.

"All has to be produced by labor" as C. Luff says himself. Workers had worked in mines which were in some cases the only ones available but were not a financial or economic success. They were balanced under Labor by mines that required modernization only.

Under insurance schemes largely covering the socialist "Welfare State" there is no something-for-nothing. People pay fire insurance but are glad no fire destroys their home even under our partly successful jungle capitalism. Unity is strength; charity is not enough."

Canadians—may not appreciate the joke of electing men like Phillip Snowden to that august club of old nobility the House of Lords. (It's like putting Tim Buck on the board of J. P. Morgan & Co.) Personally I would abolish any power they may still have.

A minority of Times readers do not approve of socialist legislation in any country at any time—even when it has proved highly successful. (I am sorry I can not tailor the facts to suit them even if I wished to do so.) "Republic with a queen" is acceptable to the country with a genius for remarkably able and honest governments. The absence of any Social Credit League is a tribute to sanity amongst all Britons. Where disaster can strike—insure as Britons did. Let us show that a good idea can even be improved.

'HOLIER THAN THOU'

The spectacle of our Bible thumping, hymn singing, "Holier than Thou" Sacred Party in and out of the Legislature is really something to behold.

Twenty eight Sacred legislators and not one had the courage to break party discipline and stand up for the right! I wonder what the innermost thoughts of the Sacred backbenchers are.

Sacreds say "we are not a party we want no part of Party manoeuvres."

Eighteen opposition members fought courageously, hour after hour, simply asking for an enquiry into a sordid, shameful state of affairs into which many innocent persons were drawn and are helplessly unable to protect themselves.

Are the people to stand helplessly by, and see our democratic principles and rights thrown to the winds by one or more dictators whose oath of office demands that they do the right thing by the people who elected them? It certainly looks as if Leslie Roberts was right when he wrote in "Liberty" that "Social Credit leads to the crack of the whip and final dictatorship."

The Sacred Government has been quick enough to call for judicial enquiries whenever they figured it suited their purpose.

The civil action between Sommers and Sturdy seems a clever hush-hush manoeuvre. The people have no assurance (even after possible months of delay) that the case will ever reach the court; and even if it gets that far that the whole facts the public demands will be disclosed.

B.C. Voters, are we going to take it lying down, or shall we, as one voice demand a complete judicial enquiry into the many serious charges made and put B.C. back in line with public morality?

A Hard Guy to Beat

IN 1928 Alfie Phillips was a skinny Toronto Central Y kid with enough promise as a springboard performer to put him on the Canadian Olympic swim team competing that year in Amsterdam.

Alfie learned a lot watching and diving against people like Pete Desjardins, the American and Olympic champion.

By 1930 he was unquestionably the best diver Canada had produced to that time and one of the two best in the country has ever developed.

At Toronto's Sunnyside pool in that distant summer-time, Alfie won the national men's springboard and tower championships to place him among the elite of Canada's competitors in the first British Empire Games.

Down at Hamilton a week later he led the Canadian divers to Commonwealth championships in the same two departments.

In 1932 he came west to win tower and springboard championships in Vancouver and Victoria and qualify for his second Canadian Olympic team. At Los Angeles he finished fourth, right behind the first three Americans, in springboard work.

A GAINER 60 FEET UP

The following year he toured Britain and European countries, winning wherever he competed, then returned to this continent to join Billy Rose's Aquacade as a pro. His specialty was a lay-out full-gainer from a 60-foot ladder—which made a lot of people think Alfie had been diving too long.

Still performing, he took over a managerial job with the Aquacade and later served in a similar capacity for the water show at the CN Exhibition at Toronto.

While he was still an amateur, after his brothers Ted and Jack had gone into professional boxing with national success, Alfie played basketball for Toronto Central. That was one of the top teams in Canada up to the time the Blue Ribbons of Victoria took over. He was a hard man to handle at handball, played reasonably good golf, was active on the badminton court and found time to work in the family's steeplejack and electrical firm.

Now he turns up skipping one of the leaders in the Macdonald Brier curling series for the Canadian championship. Strange things happen to old divers.

I guess all this goes to prove that Toronto's Alfie Phillips is one of the great competitors of this country. He's loaded with the stuff that keeps a guy fighting down to the wire. Sure, he has physical abilities—and a serious defect, too. His vision is good from one eye only.

When he was diving as an amateur, Alf Phillips had one of the highest lifts in the game. There probably weren't more than three or four others—and one of them was Johnny Riley, brother of the 1932 Olympic champion—who could bounce further into the air off a springboard. And there were very few who had more self-confidence. Call it cockiness if you like, but it's an essential ingredient in diving as in other sports.

SELF-CONFIDENCE

Like a lot of other champions, Alfie was better in competition than in exhibition or practice. In that respect he was luckier than Dr. George Athans, probably the only other Canadian diver, unless Bill Patrick has improved, who came near him in performance. And it took an awful lot to lick him.

In Los Angeles the U.S. has assembled a diving team of exceptional strength. Three of the four were Californians, Mickey Riley, Dutch Smith and Frankie Kurtz. The other was Dick Degener, a perfectionist from Detroit. All but Dick were acclimatized, recognized and backed by an aura of Sunny State superiority and whatever politics go into an Olympiad.

Alfie sized them up, understood the psychological advantages they had, and set out to fight it. He didn't beat them, but he was in the competition until the last dive. And there wasn't anybody else close enough to dispute his fourth place in the springboard event.

You meet guys like that. They don't consider the possibilities of defeat until they're finally licked. They're the type who lift any sport above the level of exercise and physical fitness. They do something for their country too, by way of example. It's always been a source of Canadian pride to me to picture Alf Phillips, standing up with the best in the world, and figuratively asking them why any should consider himself better than the boy with the maple leaf on his sweatshirt.

21 Murderers Hanged Despite Mercy Rider

OTTAWA (CP)—Twenty-one persons for whom mercy was recommended by trial juries which found them guilty of murder were executed in Canada in the last 25 years.

This information was given by the justice department in a return tabled Thursday in the Commons for John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert), a leading criminal lawyer.

Parliament is expected to vote soon on whether Canada should retain the death penalty. On Feb.

A root of mint is deemed a curtailed by any suitable means necessity in most gardens. The shoots will be appearing in leaves are useful to add to many adjacent flower or shrub borders as seasoning, and are pleasant to smell when they are touched in passing through the garden. The variety of mint usually grown is Mentha viridis, which likes a cool, shady place where it will send out creeping rootstocks in all directions. This annoying habit should be

One method is to plant the roots inside a large tin can which has the bottom as well as the top removed. Dig a hole, set in the can flush with the soil surface, and fill with compost. The mint roots may then be planted inside the can area, and it will be many years before the can will deteriorate enough for it to need replacing.

Or a deep trench may be dug around the mint planting, if a large amount of leaves is required for picking. Fill the trench with wood ash from an indoor fire. Heavy in potash, it is said to repel the mint roots, keeping them within the limits of the allotted area.

Regardless of whether the mint roots are controlled or not, new plantings should be made every four or five years. The young roots yield large, full-flavored leaves, whereas old plants become spindly and lack flavor.

Now is the time to take some rooted pieces and set them either in the bottomless can or within the ash-surrounded area.

Next year discard the old bed

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Dulled by Dieppe Detail

LONDON—Hutchinson's publishers have sent me an advance copy of a new book, Dieppe: A Dawn, which will be available in Canada shortly. It is by R. W. Thompson, an English journalist and war historian.

Naturally, as any Canadian would, I approached this with a great deal of interest, especially as it is being advertised here as "the first complete account of the Dieppe Raid." Since it is going on 14 years now from the day of that action, I expected that this would be the definitive book on Dieppe.

Enough time has elapsed to gather every scrap of material about the Allied forces taking part and about the raid as seen from the aspect of the Germans and the French civilians, plus the passage of years giving the historian the chance to fit it into its proper perspective. But Thompson gives us no new facts and several misstatements.

He has attempted to be thorough and in being thorough when you describe a battle you can't help slipping into dullness. The book is full of capital letters and, as you may know, a good test of how readable a book is can be made by scanning through it to see whether it is peppered with capital letters. This one is, which means that every fighting unit and person is given it and his full name—fine for keeping the record straight but rather laboriously weighed down with detail to make for exciting reading.

However, every now and then it comes alive, as when describing the incredible courage of Sergeant Dubuc of the Fusiliers Mont-Royal, the piper of the Camerons putting them ashore to the tune of The Hundred Pipers, the Calgary Tanks trying to get up the main beach. But only occasionally is one stirred by the story. The writer is too busy getting immersed in the welter of detail.

I think the trouble is that he is too indebted to the Public Relations Department of the War Office to whom he acknowledges thanks for all their help. It is very clearly written from British military reports on file at the War Office and he doesn't seem to have gone far beyond that in his research.

Something new he could have brought to the Dieppe story would have been to give the German side of the picture. He gives merely some glancing mentions of German reactions. Someone has yet to write, for our reading the full German story of the raid. I for one would like to know what went on on their side when they first came up against Canadian of the Second World War. By now such material must have been available to the writer.

Misstatements? The big one is this: "In fact the hands of (German) prisoners taken had not been tied, even for short periods." Author Thompson has fallen for War Office propaganda. He would have done better not to have taken their word for it and instead talked to people who had been on the spot. I watched our troops, acting under written instructions, tying prisoners hands behind their backs and leaving them that way for lengthy periods. This had unfortunate repercussions that we all know about.

It is a pity Thompson's vision was clouded by dust rising from War Office files. It remains for somebody else to write the book about the most costly operation in the history of war—the attack from which only three out of every ten who went came back unscathed.

More ominous signs of winter's return appeared in the central interior this morning. The winds backed into the north at Prince George bringing snow and near zero temperatures to that region. This Arctic air is moving southward but it should halt on a line from the Queen Charlottes southeastward to the north Okanagan and thence to Nelson.

Northeast of this line the sting of winter will be felt again with occasional snow today and subzero temperatures tonight.

Public Hearing March 22 On Revamped Zoning Law

Victoria city council gave preliminary passage Thursday to a new zoning by-law and set March 22 for a public hearing. The by-law was passed after minor objections were overcome.

It has been five years in planning stages. The by-law improves the 1929 zoning by-law in keeping with requisites of modern traffic and building trends.

Several groups have opposed the by-law at two previous hearings, including architects and builders. Objections have been taken to increased set-back requirements and new regulations for provision of off-street parking in new commercial and apartment buildings.

A by-law authorizing expenditure of $550,000 from the tax sales lands account for a new Point Ellice bridge was introduced by council.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said the next step is to obtain consent for the expenditure from the provincial government, then set the date for a plebiscite.

He announced earlier that he thought this would take place March 22. However, no date was mentioned at the council meeting.

Council approved a gross wage increase of about $26,000 for 1956 to 225 outside staff workers. The increase was recommended by city manager C. C. Wyatt following lengthy negotiations. The adjustments vary according to the job category under an increment scale agreed upon by union and city representatives earlier this year. Increases were effective Jan. 1, and the plan was drawn up on a two-year basis. The union had asked a four-cent increase in the basic rate plus an across-the-board increase to all members of 12 cents an hour.

Mr. Wyatt said the increase was comparable to that granted inside workers recently of 1.92 per cent this year and 1.75 per cent in 1957.

Council approved a motion by Alderman Austin Curtis that a by-law be prepared to permit operators of private parking lots to prosecute illegal parkers. He said a change had been made in the Municipal Act, making such action permissive, during the recent legislative session.

The city solicitor was empowered to meet with parking lot operators to consider the matter.

City manager Wyatt was authorized to investigate Oak Bay and Esquimalt bicycle licensing plans and recommend action to council.

A recommendation from finance committee that no change be made in the present city system was tabled. The consideration grew from a plan by Ald. M. H. Mooney which calls for permanent licensing of bicycles, freeing owners of any fee after initial registration.

Mayor Scourrah was asked by council to approach the provincial government again on the possibility of the province taking over and developing park lands at Beaver Lake, Goldstream and Thetis Lake.

The motion came after receipt of a letter from Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association asking joint action by Saanich and the city on the Beaver Lake land. The city has already made representations regarding Thetis and Goldstream but no reply has been made by the government.

and pointed out that he was an amateur photographer.

He said he had several times attempted to take pictures of children at play in the park and had never seen more than eight youngsters there except during summer periods when supervised activities were under way.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of public works committee, was asked by council to expedite investigations on installation of a traffic light at Fernwood and Gladstone.

Ald. Don Smith asked council why nothing had been done after residents in that area had filed a petition at City Hall. It was pointed out that the petition had been referred to the traffic committee and then to police chief John Blackstock in January, and no report had come back.

Council supported a resolution by the council of New Toronto calling for an increase in federal old age pensions from $40 to $65 a month.

$40,000 Sewer Project Proposed In Esquimalt's Parklands Area

Esquimalt public works committee will recommend a $40,000 sewer project for Parklands area to council Monday night.

Work will take place if approved on Parklands, Kingsmill, Cunningham and Alexander Streets, and will be paid for on local improvement basis.

Coun. G. K. Sammon described the project as a necessary step for public health reasons because the area is now served by septic tanks.

We said if residents would not endorse a local improvement plan council might do the work and charge residents anyway.

Public works also will recommend development of the 61-lot Gorge Park subdivision at Craigflower and Tillicum. A bid out.

HAROLD WINCH RETURNS TO HOSPITAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold Winch, 45, CCF member of Parliament for Vancouver East, was back in hospital Thursday following a one-day stay at home.

The former leader of the opposition in the British Columbia legislature broke a leg 12 weeks ago, then suffered a blood clot in a lung.

Thursday he went back to hospital for X-rays after one of his crutches snapped under him.

Petlock 'Shoot Works' Threat Told By Friend

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Two witnesses told Thursday of incidents indicating bad feeling between John Petlock, 36, and his brother, Michael, whom he is accused of shooting last Aug. 29 near Fenwood, Sask.

Michael's body was one of five found on his mother's farm. The others were those of his mother, Mrs. Mary Petlock, 72, his wife, Angeline, 21 and their daughters, Dianne, 3, and Michalene, 11 months.

John Petlock, whose trial on a charge of murdering his brother has now lasted four days, was arrested in Edmonton last Labor Day.

After the testimony given by two acquaintances of John Petlock, defence counsel Emmett M. Hall of Saskatoon said treatment of his client by members of the family could only be described as "persecution."

Alfred Matichuk, a railway employee at Fenwood, and Mike Sedlovitch, a carpenter in the village 15 miles west of Melville, both told of events which occurred in the community and at the home of John Petlock on the night of July 10, 1955.

Matichuk said he and a group of friends, including Sedlovitch, were sitting in a car in front of his house when Nellie Petlock, John's wife, passed. She was hailed, he said, and told them she was looking for John, who had not come home from taking his cows to pasture east of the village.

They had searched that area briefly he said, returning to Petlock's house.

Shortly after they arrived John returned, he said, and was carrying a rifle. He had heard John say as he approached: "... Those ... I will shoot the whole works ..."

Sedlovitch later corroborated this story, but made no mention of the alleged threat.

He said, however, that when Nellie Petlock approached the car in Fenwood she was crying and had said "Those ... crazy Indians are chasing John down the tracks and throwing stones at him."

B.C. Indian Tribe Asks White Status

OTTAWA (CP)—A British Columbia Indian band has become subject to administrative regulations but also get special treatment — freedom from enfranchisement — the Indian Act and the right to manage their own affairs. It would also give them full voting rights.

Citizenship Minister Pickersgill said Thursday night the application is from the Metlakatla Indians, a comparatively small band whose reservation is near Prince Rupert.

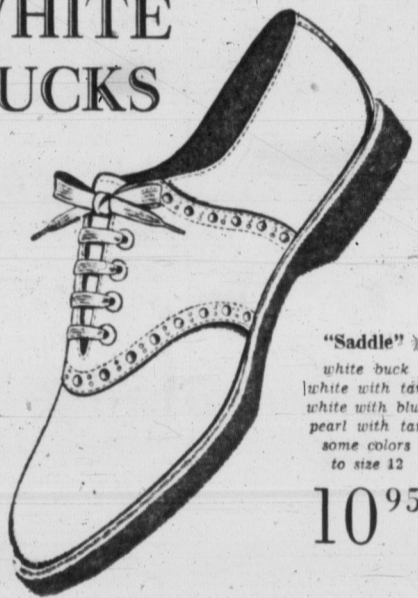

A committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson of the B.C. Supreme Court and including a representative of the Indian affairs branch and a representative of the Indians has been set up to consider the application. The committee, which will hold hearings in the near future, will consider whether the Metlakatla Indians are sufficiently advanced to take over management of their own affairs and on what basis they would be freed from Indian Act regulations.

Smelled Gunpowder After Split Crew Member Tells Ship Enquiry

SEATTLE (AP)—The freighter Washington Mail "cracked like a stick of wood" before it sank in the North Pacific last Saturday, a survivor told a Coast Guard board Thursday.

Pierre Brenneisen, a Swiss army officer and one of nine passengers on the ill-fated voyage, said he was on the freighter's flying bridge taking photographs and saw the bow snap off.

The passengers and 51 crew hid almost the entire front of the ship ... I think the crack moved from left to right across the deck, but I cannot be sure.

Brenneisen said he saw blue smoke and smelled an unfamiliar odor after the break-up. He said he was familiar with the odor of gunsmoke as an artillery officer followed the crack-up.

Radio officer Perry W. Harrison said he thought he heard an explosion in emergency power equipment under the radio cabin; Wilford F. Lossing, assistant second engineer, heard a "terrific noise" in the engine room; Frank G. Lavanias, a fireman, told of a "blast" and said he saw smoke and smelled gunpowder.

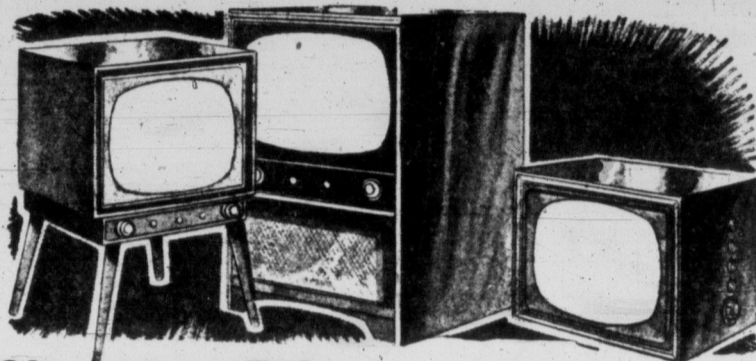

The Coast Guard board recessed the hearing until Monday at 10 a.m.

Actors, Stage Hands, Audience Win Plaudits of Adjudicator

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Royal Oak and Mount Newton Junior-Senior High Schools shared the program in Thursday evening's sessions of the Victoria Schools Drama Festival.

Acting for the first time as hosts to the festival, Royal Oak presented two plays, both of which were highly commended by adjudicator, Mrs. Lily Harper.

It was an evening for congratulations all round. Those unsung heroes, the back-stage crews came in for Mrs. Harper's praise too. As for the people "out front"—"It was a wonderful audience!" she commented.

"THE MIRACLE AT BLAISE"
by ROBERT C. MCGILL
Presented by MOUNT NEWTON JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
Cast: Madeleine Giraud, Bertha, Gabrielle Mortier, Nicole Lacroix, Taghina, Veronique Vidau
Director: Mrs. M. Hardy

In analyzing this production, a first entry by this group in the festival, Mrs. Harper said that choice of vehicle was commendable in that it gave the actors such wide possibilities for expression and invention.

"TWO CROOKS AND A LADY"
Presented by ROYAL OAK JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
Cast: Miller, Lucille, Mrs. Sims-Vane, Anne Jorg, Police Inspector, Garrity
Director: J. A. DuMasse
Stage Manager: Judith Noonan
Costumes: Kathleen Hunt, Linda Gordon
Make-up: Athos Grant

Here was a team that worked nicely together. Mrs. Harper remarked. The pace never faltered in fact at times it became almost too fast.

Most of the characters, however, were keenly aware of timing and used it effectively. The stage movement was easy and relaxed. The adjudicator considered, but she felt that important business of the necklace should have been given more emphasis.

The cast had done a good job individually and as a team. It was a sincere attempt that a little more work on characterization would have heightened.

"A SUNNY MORNING"
by SERAFIN AND JOAQUIN ALVAREZ QUINTERO
Presented by ROYAL OAK JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
Cast: Donna Laura, Petre, Don Gonzalo, Juanito, A. Nursemaid
Director: J. A. DuMasse
Stage Managers: Grant Sheldrake, Derek Gay

Mrs. Harper was delighted with the choice in this instance. She pointed out that it could be regarded as a dramatic exercise, posing some real problems, such as the comparative immobility of the two main characters who are seated throughout on a park bench.

She felt that Margaret Johnston and Jack Molyneux had handled a difficult assignment very well.

The young actress received praise for "beautiful" use of her hands, face and upper part of her body.

"An actress of interesting potentialities," said Mrs. Harper. She also commented on the artistic, beautifully-painted flats which had set the scene so well. The whole play was handled intelligently and gave delight to the audience. Mrs. Harper felt.

This charming oriental fantasy had been a happy choice for a well-knit group, in the adjudicator's opinion. A great deal of work had been done on the costumes, which impressed her with their colorfulness and authenticity.

Sound and lighting effects had been particularly good, she commented.

Cast: A. Mariner, Michael Stephen, Geoffrey Archibald, A. Roy, Andrew Waide, A. Stale, Ian Reid, A. Walchman, Martin Peller, A. Saller, Bernard Goward, A. Captain, Gerald Haddon

An enthusiastic group with a cast, each one displaying an eye sense of timing, declared earnestness and sincerity in his Mrs. Harper.

There had been a remarkable degree of character development on the part of the whole instance.

"SHOCK OF HIS LIFE"
by DONALD PAYTON
Presented by OAK BAY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL
Cast: Mr. Maxwell, Wayne Fattner, Mrs. Maxwell, Barbara Gelling, Connie, Carol Smithson, Lou, Darlene Hendry, Wilber, Ross Macdonald, Hercules, Art Roberts

Mrs. Harper expressed full approval of the way in which the cast had handled this light comedy which was full of amusing situations.

"It was given an intelligent treatment by a versatile cast of players who displayed a near-professional command of the stage," she declared, in what was one of her most enthusiastic adjudications to date.

She singled out Ross Macdonald, commenting that he had a remarkable feeling for comedy technique.

At the conclusion of tonight's plays, selection of the three to be repeated in Saturday's honor performance will be announced. A job which Mrs. Harper admits she is going to find difficult.

Tonight's program takes place at Oak Bay Junior High and will consist of "The Stolen Prince" presented by the host school; "Goodnight Caroline" by Mount Douglas High School and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" (Act II) by Oak Bay Senior High.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rating Days)
C (To put to rest)

(B) "ALL THAT HEAVEN ALLOWS" (Odeon) — No doubt on the basis that one good turn at money-making deserves another, Universal-International has again teamed Jane Wyman with Rock Hudson in a play with a "message" that is guaranteed to saturate two or three hankies per matinee per housewife.

In their first show together, producers used the late Lloyd C. Douglas' "Magnificent Obsession" as their vehicle. This was the novel which told of a doctor's noble obsession of helping others on the condition that they never divulge his name. This resulted in Miss Wyman being nominated for an Academy Award and the box office reaping a noble harvest of the root of all evil.

IRONICALLY, "ALL THAT HEAVEN ALLOWS" is an 87-minute indictment against tollers for talents, espousing that the simple life is best for all. To which thesis everyone will agree—except those who are too nervous keeping an eye-on-the wolf at the door to worry about the unspeakable misfortunes garnered by those who have their hands sullied by gold.

Just as she did in "Magnificent Obsession," Miss Wyman plays the role of a wealthy widow. This time, however, Rock is a tree pruner who obviously would like to train her into becoming a clinging vine. Although she is not averse to this, widow Wyman is worried about what her wealthy, country club set will think about her taking up with a man who shuns money for trees, old wine, concertina music and the life of a rustic in an old mill.

U.S. Band in Britain

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (Reuters)—Stan Kenton and his band arrived here Thursday night in the liner Queen Elizabeth, the first American dance band to tour Britain in 22 years. Objections by Britain's musicians' union have kept out American bands ever since Cab Calloway played here in 1934, but the union agreed to Kenton's visit because British band leader Ted Heath will be visiting the United States at the end of this month.

INDEED IT REQUIRES A goodly amount of sermonizing set to hushed music and a lecture from her physician to make her see that there is a lot of fun to be had at the grass-roots level. As the wise old doc told her, "You are ready for a love affair but not for love."

However, while there is still some use left in the last hankie widow Wyman becomes ready for both and everyone is happy except all those poor rich people left behind with their limousines and mansions.

JUDGE OF SPEECH ARTS at the Greater Victoria Music Festival, starting March 14, will be Mrs. Joy Coghill Thorne, member of the extension department, drama division, of University of British Columbia. It is the first time she has adjudicated here.

British Actor Jon Farrell Visiting Mother in Victoria

Jon Farrell, well-known to British audiences as actor, writer and broadcaster, is back in Victoria this week visiting his mother, Mrs. A. C. Farrell at 904 McClure.

Mr. Farrell went overseas with the Canadian Army during the Second World War, and afterwards settled in London as professional actor and writer. He has appeared in a number of West End plays, including "The Male Animal" with Barbara Kelly of Vancouver, "Guys and Dolls" and more recently in "The Bad Seed" at the Aldwych Theatre.

A number of his plays have been broadcast and televised by the BBC and some of them have been retransmitted in Canada. "During my visit to Canada I am gathering material for BBC documentaries and I also plan to broadcast a talk on my experiences here."

"This is my first visit to Victoria since 1946. It is certainly spreading out in all directions but the old Empress and the Inner Harbor never change." Mr. Farrell flew to Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Airlines route.

MUST MOVE BOATS

CHEMAINUS—Owners of small boats moored at the government wharf have been ordered to move their craft before Monday.

Pacific Pile Driving Co. of Victoria will move equipment into the area on Monday and carry out repairs to all floats.

OAK BAY FIREMEN SEEK CONCILIATION OFFICER

Oak Bay firemen followed the lead of the Victoria department Thursday and asked for a conciliation officer to mediate wage differences with the municipal council.

The council fire committee joined in the request to the Provincial Labor Department.

Victoria firemen and city bargainners took the same action Wednesday.

The Oak Bay firemen have asked an 11.9 per cent wage increase which would raise first-class firemen to $325 a month. The union rejected a council offer of 3½ per cent.

Jean's Hopes Fade

Beliveau Stopped;
Bruins Lose Ground

Montreal 4, Toronto 3
New York 6, Chicago 4
Detroit 4, Boston 2

By The Canadian Press

The 50-goal National Hockey League record must be taking on the appearance of a mirage to Jean Beliveau.

A couple of weeks ago, chances were better than average that the Montreal Canadiens' centre would break the mark held by teammate Maurice Richard. Now it's not so good.

Beliveau failed to score Thursday night as Canadiens nipped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 at Montreal. He has 44 goals and five goals to get the seven goals needed to break the record.

Despite the loss, Toronto maintained its three-point grip on the fourth and last playoff position with some help from Detroit Red Wings who dumped Boston Bruins 4-2. It was the 20th straight game Bruins went without a win at Detroit.

RANGERS KEEP PACE

New York Rangers outlasted Chicago Black Hawks to take a 6-4 win at St. Louis and keep in a second-place deadlock with Red Wings.

Richard scored twice to pace Canadiens to their 42nd win, a club record. Montreal's 94 points also is a team mark.

Henri Richard and Bert Olinstead scored the other Montreal goals before 13,538 fans. Rudy Migay, George Armstrong and Gerry James counted for Leafs.

Red Wings scored three goals in the first period against the Bruins and after that had little difficulty posting their 28th win of the campaign.

PAIR INJURED

Lorne Ferguson, Marcel Provost, Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe got Detroit's goals. Cal Gardner fired both for Boston.

Detroit's Earl Reibel suffered a possible shoulder dislocation and Boston's Jerry Toppazzini a twisted knee in separate accidents.

The loss was Bruins' 33rd—a club record.

Tony Leswick was the high scorer for the night as he scored three goals and assisted on the fourth in a vain effort for Chicago. Bronco Horvath, Danny Lewicki and Wally Hergeshimer of the Rangers each had a goal and two assists. Defencemen Harry Howell, Pete Conacher and Guy Gendron were the other Ranger marksmen. Nick Mickoski sniped the other Chicago goal.

Marlene, Louise Share Golf Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—A slight easing of the rugged weather that sent scores soaring was expected today as little Louise Suggs and Marlene Bauer Hagge led a star-studded field into the second round of the 17th annual women's titleholders golf tournament.

Miss Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Hagge, of Asheville, N.C., each posted a 78 yesterday in the first round of this "masters" tournament for women.

A pair of old buddies will be reunited tonight when Victoria Cougars go against Seattle Americans at Memorial Arena. Forward Don Chiupka, left, will have some home-town company in the person of Larry Leach, centre, who joined the club Thursday. Both players were with Humbolt Juniors last year and Cougar coach Eddie Olson, right, hopes that the latest addition will help Cougars regain first place.

Cougars Host Americans Shriners to Supply Fun

It's one down and five to go for Victoria Cougars tonight as they meet Seattle Americans at Memorial Arena.

And the Cougars will likely have a couple of new shots to show the Americans as they bid to regain the western divisional lead in the Western Hockey League from Vancouver Canucks.

Presently trailing Canucks by a single point, each club having five games to play, Cougars will dress at least one and possibly two new players against Coach Billy Reay's Americans, who have as much, if not more, at stake tonight than do the Cougars.

The newcomers are Larry Leach, 20, a centre, and Pete Panagabko, 18, a right winger, from Humboldt of the Saskatchewan Junior League. Leach arrived Thursday. Panagabko is due this morning.

Their use depends on the physical condition of coach Eddie Olson, who is not expected to play, and centre Doug Anderson, who is suffering from a shoulder injury. Olson has a badly bruised ankle.

Americans need a victory if they are to keep pace with New Westminster Royals in their battle for third place. Teams are tied at present with Royals meeting Canucks on the main-land tonight.

SHRINE NIGHT

Extra hijinks are promised here as it will be "Shriners Night" at the arena.

Brodies Host Nanaimo In Province Cup Match

The age-old battle of youth vs. experience will be resolved on the soccer field Saturday.

The Nanaimo soccer club will represent the youthful element when they meet the strong and battle-hardened Brodies Bakery club at Athletic Park at 2 in a Province Cup qualifying match.

Winner of this game will advance against Vancouver Firefighters in the first round proper of the Province Cup competition, entered by 16 teams.

Average age of the Nanaimo team, managed by Ron Waugh, is 25 while there are 17- and 18-year olds on the roster.

Nanaimo led the Upper Island League and defeated Courtenay 6-1 in Province Cup play after they had battled to an earlier 2-2 tie. Nanaimo lost only one game during the season.

Dick Carmichael will start in goal for the up-Islanders, with Ken White and Ron Gibbons at the fullback positions.

Hustling Dave Paterson will pivot the halfback line with Ron Sage and Lisle Scott on the flanks.

Team captain Jack Scott will be at centre-forward with Garry Blackburn and Hastings Henry at insides and Bill Sampson and Tommy White on the wings.

Tommy White, Lisle Scott and Patterson are members of the Nanaimo Timbermen lacrosse team.

Spares will be Dick Seaward, Dave Austin, John Loeffel and Jim Philip.

B.C. Rink Upsets Ontario

MONCTON—The Harold Jordan rink of Kimberley, B.C., scored a major upset in the Canadian Curling Championships by knocking over Ontario, 11-9, in one extra end.

The B.C. victory shot Manitoba, skipped by former Brier champion Billy Walsh, into first place with one round remaining.

Manitoba defeated Alberta 11-5 in the 10th round to run its record to eight wins and one loss. Ontario started the day tied with Manitoba, each with 7-1 records.

In the 11th round, Manitoba is drawn against Saskatchewan, while Ontario meets Nova Scotia.

Ontario made a great bid against B.C. before going down in the extra end. The Ontario foursome scored four on the last three ends to tie the match at 9-9, but Jordan's quartet counted two on the extra end.

In other 10th round matches today, Prince Edward Island scored a 10-8 extra-end victory over Newfoundland for their third win in nine starts; Nova Scotia (6-3) beat New Brunswick, 12-11, and Saskatchewan came from behind to defeat Northern Ontario, 11-9.

Saskatchewan has a 5-4 record. Northern Ontario, 4-5.

Walsh's Manitoba rink turned in its steadiest game of the week to hang up the all-important victory over Alberta.

The victory assured Manitoba of at least a tie in the 27th annual Brier competition.

If Manitoba and Ontario end in a tie, a sudden-death playoff will be held tonight.

Gerry Glanz, an RCMP sergeant resident in Truro, N.S., skipping the Nova Scotia rink, hung a 14-5 ninth-round defeat on the 39-year-old Walsh Thursday, the first in eight games for the Winnipeg skip.

The loss, coupled with Ontario's 10-8 victory over Newfoundland, sent Ontario and Manitoba into today's final play with identical 7-1 won-lost records.

THE SLICK MR. SICK

Seattle's man about baseball (and beer), Emil Sick, as dapper as he is wise in the ways of foam and fielders, checks his wardrobe while relaxing at Empress Hotel. In the city for a convention, the Seattle Rainiers' owner suggests that without Sunday baseball Vancouver Mounties face a troubled financial future.

WITHOUT SUNDAY BALL

Mounties Face Grim Year---Sick

Seattle's Mr. Baseball was in Victoria Thursday, and Mr. Baseball is pessimistic about Vancouver's new entry in the Pacific Coast League.

Mr. Baseball, of course, is Emil Sick, president of the Seattle Rainiers club, and a brewing executive of some note in his spare time.

His pessimism is based on a negative: "Without Sunday ball," said Mr. Sick, when encountered in the Empress Hotel barbershop, "Vancouver can't break even financially."

Between hot towels, razor snicks, and the ministrations of a charming manicurist, he added, gloomily, "They just can't make a go of it."

"Our league is very disappointed to hear they aren't going to implement legislation for Sunday sport in Vancouver."

"What's wrong with baseball on Sunday?" he asked. "Vancouver wasn't asking for a wide-open Sabbath. And the people voted for Sunday ball."

Mr. Sick opined that Vancouver would have to draw 350,000 fans over the season to reach the break-even point.

"They can't do it without Sunday ball," he said, flatly.

The Rainiers, he said, can get by with 300,000 a season. (They drew 350,000 last year with a pennant winner.) "But we take in about $100,000 for radio and TV rights," he said. "Vancouver is too new to this class of ball to bring in that kind of money."

He said a partial solution would be to play Vancouver's Sunday home games at Seattle. "Some of the Vancouver fans would come down," he thought. "They like to get away for a weekend. Maybe some Victoria fans would turn up, too. We get quite a few for our Sunday games now."

But all in all, as 62-year-old, brisk, cheery Mr. Sick adjusted his tie and headed for a business meeting of fellow brewery men, he left little hope for the Vancouver Mounties. In a financial sense, that is.

THESE BOYS WON BUT CAN'T COLLECT

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Four men teamed up to call the right turn on last Sunday's 10 horse races at the Lima track and wound up with 1,149,974 soles, about $60,525.

But the lucky ones won't be able to collect for a while. They are residents of the Lima prison.

The quartet, investing a total of about 50 cents, won the grand prize in form of turf lottery, highly popular here.

The director of prisons will collect the money and deposit it in the bank where the winnings will remain until the four are allowed to collect.

Too Much Snow Stops Ski Meet

A record nine-foot blanket of snow at the Snobirds' Mt. Brenton cabin last weekend caused postponement of the scheduled Mt. Brenton Trophy meet.

The heavy snowfall brought transportation to a standstill and a five-mile hike to the cabin was in order for the competitors.

An insufficient number of entries showed up so another meet will be scheduled in about two weeks, when the snow retreats from the lower slopes.

Venture Rugger Vanquish Students

Cadet Derek Hood powered the HMCS Venture rugby machine to a crushing 20-0 victory over University School Wednesday in an exhibition game.

Hood scored two penalty goals, a convert and a try for 11 points. Joe Vansanvoort, Steve Quaele and Thor Young scored the other tries.

Venture led 11-0 at the half. In a game between the second string teams, Venture downed University School, 26-6.

This Sort of Wrestling Too Tough for Dave

This Sky Hi Lee doesn't like anybody, and that includes referees.

Lee thrashed about with gay abandon Thursday night at Victoria Ballroom, and one of the victims of his punching routine was referee Dave Pye.

Pye eventually picked himself off the floor outside the ring, victim this time of a right hand thrown by Lee's opponent, Leo Numa, and awarded the main event of the weekly professional wrestling show to said Numa, claiming unstated damages.

It went this way:

Lee had used his cheerfully roughhouse tactics to subdue Numa in the first fall of the best-of-three bout. He was well on his way to taking the second fall when Numa quickly turned the tables and pinned the towering Texan to even the match.

This so enraged Lee that he attacked Numa before the bell rang for the third fall. When referee Pye came to Numa's rescue, Lee flicked him heavily to the canvas with a wide right, not once, but twice.

Pye then went to the top of the matter and leaped on Lee's back. At this point Numa came to life and nailed Lee with a straight, right himself, propelling Pye outside the ring.

Pye crawled back into the scene of conflict, called it a night and gave Numa the match on general principles.

In the first half of the double-

30 Starters Expected At Aintree

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother watched their jumper Devon Loch finish third Wednesday in the three-mile National Hunt steeplechase at Aintree, shortly before a list of 30 horses was named for the March 24, Grand National at Aintree.

Devon Loch and M'A's-Tu-Vu are scheduled to carry the royal colors in the Grand National steeplechase—the world's toughest horse race. An Irish hospital sweepstakes is based on the result.

All the well-backed horses, including Quare Times, the 1955 winner, remain in the race. It is expected that about 30 horses will start—the same as last year.

The final list of acceptors:

Early Mist, Royal Tan, Quare Times, Mariner's Log, Wise Child, Holly Bank, Devon Loch, Sundew Gigolo E. S. B., High Guard, Mr. Linnett, Much Obligated, Dunboy II, Carey's Cottage, Tout a l'Heure, Armorial III, Merry Windsor, Must Key Royal, Valiant Spark, M'A's-Tu-Vu, Reverend Prince, Witty, Domataj Polonius, Athenian, Gentle Moya, No Response, Clearing, Eagle Lodge Onray, Victory Morn, Wild Wisdom, Border Luck, Pippykin, Martinique, Venetian Law and Sun Clasp.

Overcomes Handicap Blind Skier Follows Tinkling Bell

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—If late winter skiers spot a young man sweeping down a lofty New England mountain slope just behind a little, blonde girl skier with a tinkling bell on one ski pole, it will be safe to assume the man is Abdul Hadi, 26, a blind Harvard student from Afghanistan.

Abdul has been totally blind since 1945. Before that he skied for years, making his first turns in Switzerland. His comeback to the mountain trails began three years ago after encouragement from his girl friend, Dolly Kunz.

He began with a snowplow lesson at Stowe, Vt., and his fine co-ordination gave him the needed boost to keep at it.

Then began a period of skiing ahead of Dolly while she warned him of the variety and turns in the run ahead. Abdul learned rapidly and soon was skiing too fast for that type of direction.

He and Dolly talked it over and felt a bell might be the answer.

Dolly explains the system this way:

"I simply ski ahead, with a small bell, half the size of a cow bell, attached to my right ski pole. I keep shaking it as I move from turn to turn. Many times I forget that Abdul is behind me and we get to the bottom of the mountain before I realize it. He is right there behind me."

HALLERS WIN

MAGRATH, Alta. (CP)—The power-packed Edmonton Towne Hallers, defending Alberta senior men's basketball champions; Thursday night defeated Magrath Rockets 82-58 in the first game of the provincial final.

Norm and Kenny Won't Mention Past Tonight

Norm Baker and Kenny Lawn, old sidekicks of their professional days, will be on opposite sides of the basketball fence tonight.

Baker will be cracking the whip, both as a player and coach, over the Dickinson & Dunn entry, Vancouver Island senior B champs, while Lawn will be sporting the St. Regis Hotel banner.

The clubs tangle in Vancouver tonight in the first game of a two-game, total-point series for the lower mainland "B" title. Second game will be held Saturday night.

Baker and Lawn both starred for the old Vancouver Hornets in the short-lived Pacific Coast professional series.

Tonight's game will see Dickinson & Dunn running into the toughest opposition they have met this year. Besides Lawn, other top-notch players on the St. Regis club include Nev Munroe, former top scorer in the Vancouver Senior A League with Eilers and former UBC and Eilers guard Denny Wotherspoon.

The D & D club defeated Farmer Construction to win the city championship, downed Duncan handily in the lower Island final and then whipped Cumberland, four-time Island champs, to qualify for tonight's game.

Winner of the weekend series will host the interior champion in the B.C. final. Kamloops, paced by former Vancouver scoring wizard Jack McKinnon, is rated as the toughest interior threat.

To say that Iowa trampled Ohio State in this Big Ten basketball game would just about explain the situation that sees Tom Payne of Iowa apparently walking on the face of Buckeye Frank Howard. The score was 88-73 for the heavy-footed Iowa club.

SATURDAY DOUBLE-HEADERS

Mounties Forced To Revise Schedule

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Vancouver Mounties pro baseball club has had to revise its home-game schedule for the Capilano Stadium this season because Vancouver did not get Sunday sport legislation passed by the provincial government. It was necessary to shift 13 Sunday double-headers, a total of 26 games, to other dates. This was done by scheduling on open Mondays wherever possible and changing some games to Saturday afternoon contests preceding the regularly scheduled Saturday evening games. The pitching staff will face 19 double-headers, 10 of which are scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening two-admission twin bills.

Horses Perish In Stable Fire

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen race horses perished Thursday night when fire destroyed a 300-foot stable at Sunshine Park in suburban Oldsmar with a loss estimated at $62,500. W. Frank Hobbs, Tampa lawyer, and president of the race track, said a careful survey showed 15 carcasses in the barn and two others so badly burned they had to be destroyed. Hobbs estimated the horses were valued at $2,500 each and the barn was worth $20,000. He said there was no insurance on the barn.

Howe Scores On Beliveau

Gordie Howe, striving to overtake Montreal's Jean Beliveau for the scoring honors of the National Hockey League, picked up three points—a goal and two assists—in Thursday night's action to narrow the gap to five points.

Beliveau managed an assist—his 38th—and with his league-leading 44 goals tops the individual race with 82 points.

Canucks Advance In Net Tourney

BEAULIEU, France (CP) — Paul Willey and Larry Barclay, both of Vancouver, Thursday advanced to the semifinals in the men's doubles at an international tennis tournament by defeating Vladislav Skoneckii, a Polish exile, and Jean-Pierre Bergerat of France, 6-3, 6-4. In the men's singles quarter-finals, Willey lost to Antonio Maggi of Italy, 6-3, 6-3.

Ask Him if He's Good, And Mickey'll Tell You

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Want to draw a little fire from Mickey Mantle? Ask him if he thinks he has lived up to his "potential."

The New York centrefielder is willing to accept his 1955 average of .306 and his league-leading total of 37 home runs as "not a bad year."

Naturally, he hopes to do better. Like all batters he wants to lead the league in hitting runs batted in, but he isn't impatient. "Everybody always is asking me if I think I can do better," he said while waiting his turn to bat at Miller Huggins field. "Sure, I think I can do better. Nobody ever learns all there is to know about this game and I'm not even close. But I don't think I have been doing too bad."

Other baseball news has manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians a bit prejudiced about left-handed catchers. Some argue that a lefty behind the plate would be in a better position to throw to first base, where most of a catcher's throws would go. Lopez, however, maintains that southpaws could not throw properly to third, and would toss curves to second.

And, he says, American League catchers, including his own Jim Hegan, don't try to pick off runners at third often enough, right-handed or not.

Over in the wrestling world, Dick Huffman, former lineman with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, made his second wrestling start in Toronto a winning one Thursday night. The 250-pound Huffman pinned Tony Angelo of Montreal in 12 minutes, 41 seconds. Two weeks ago he disposed of Maurice La Pointe in just six minutes, 25 seconds, and promoter Frank Tunney thinks that he is going to be "terrific" as a matman.

And in Philadelphia, promoter Ray Fabiani has issued a statement saying that Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion, will return to the ring as a wrestler. Louis, who has said to have accepted a $100,000 a year guarantee, will meet Cowboy Rocky Lee in his first bout in Washington Mar. 16.

In Heilbronn, Germany, a 17-year-old boy who vowed to "smash somebody's bones," was sentenced to two weeks in juvenile detention home for "intentionally inflicting dangerous bodily injury" after breaking an opposing centre-forward's leg in a soccer game. The referee did not banish the youth, because he could not at the time prove intent, but the injured boy's father took the matter to court. His son spent 22 weeks in hospital.

Jerry Leads At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Young Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., fired seven birdies Thursday for a four-under-par 68 in the opening round of Pensacola's new $12,500 open golf tournament.

The 27-year-old pro blistered the greens on the out nine with a four-under-par 32. He came home in a regulation 36, despite a two-over-par six on the 17th hole, where he sent his second shot over the green.

The round gave him a two-stroke edge on the field, which registered nine sub-par scores and 11 par 72s.

Five pros were bracketed at 70: Don January, Abilene, Tex.; Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla.; George Bigman, Kansas City, Mo.; Buck White, Memphis, Tenn., and Drew Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Others bettering par, despite strong winds and biting cold, were Dick Myer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; John Serafin, Fox Hill, Pa., and Joe Black, Abilene, Tex., all with 71.

Al Balding of Toronto was locked in an 11-way tie for 10th place, also with a par 72.

Roughies, Caldwell Come to Terms

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders have settled their contract differences with former coach Chan Caldwell, it was announced Thursday. The terms were not revealed.

Ralph Sweet, Caldwell's lawyer, said the dispute "was settled to the satisfaction of all parties."

Caldwell filed suit against the Riders last fall for breach of contract and wrongful dismissal after he was cut loose with 13 months of a two-year contract uncompleted.

Net Finalists

CAIRO, Egypt (BUP) — Fred Kovaleski of Washington, D.C., and Jack Arkinstall of Australia gained the finals of the men's doubles in the Egyptian tennis tournament yesterday when they upset Swedish Davis Cup stars Sven Davidson and Torsten Johansson 1-6, 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

They go on to meet Lew Hoad of Australia and Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt in the title round.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Scouting is not nor has it ever been a substitute for schooling. It is a device for supplementing the formal instruction of schools, by leading the boy into new fields and giving him a chance to make practical use of his powers, intellectual, moral and physical. The best thing about it is its extraordinary diversity, reaching out to all boys of all degrees of mental ability, in all kinds of social environment, and creating for them a real need to do their level best.

In Scouting we follow up the things that are taught the boy in school, by putting things into practice the things that boys like by action and adventure, fun and games. By this method the boy gets something that otherwise would become a drudge to him.

It also gives a boy a chance to be on an equal footing with the other boy, because of his own efforts, knowing that he can only advance by his own achievement.

The motto of Scouts is "Be Prepared." That is prepared for service where it is needed. It is of little use to say that you will be of service if you have no practical knowledge of how to help in time of difficulties or of need. This is part of our training of Scouts that might turn up.

Two New Branches To Be Formed By Pensioners

The Old-Age Pensioners' Organization of Vancouver Island will seek to establish two new branches in the Greater Victoria area to assist in the campaign for increased pensions for senior citizens.

Richard Primmer of Parksville, president of the Island council of the organization, said a public meeting will soon be called for the purpose of forming two new branches.

"We know there is strength in numbers and we are going out to get more members to support the drive to get a better deal for old people," he said.

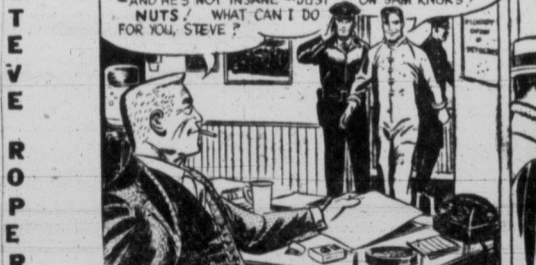

He said it is demoralizing to both the economic and the social system to have pensioners forced to live in straitened circumstances.

Nanaimo Arena Deficit Forecast

NANAIMO—The civic arena commission will spend more than $32,000 on the operations of the building in the next year, Ald. Mrs. Gertrude Hall, city member on the commission, reported to the city council.

The 1956 budget forecasts a deficit of $7,808. Permission will be sought to buy 1,500 chairs at a cost of $6,000, in order to increase annual income through rentals by $2,500.

Why Is It Important to Study Julius Caesar in School?

Julius Caesar played a star role in the history of mankind. In his day he was just about the most important man alive. He controlled vast armies of Roman soldiers. His word was law. Country after country fell before his legions. The conquered peoples were forced to live under Roman law—the law of Caesar. History at that time was made by him.

All this was some 2,000 years ago. We can read and study it as part of recorded history. Best of all, we can read on and see what happened after. We can see which of his plans worked out well for mankind and which ended in disaster.

This is why the study of History is so important. It helps us to see the long-range results of this or that event. We can read back and see the mistakes that lead to war and tyranny. We can see how nations got along together in the past. History, it is said, tends to repeat itself. A study of history shows how certain events got started time and again. When a strong man shouts that might is right we can expect trouble. When nations get together in mutual help and friendship we can expect good results. That is how history has shown us to repeat itself in the past.

Now why is it important to learn about this in school? Why should we have to know about a certain Roman who lived over 2,000 years ago? The answer is, in our democracy, ordinary men and women vote for those who make our laws and deal with other nations. Our government is elected by its people. And, not too far in the future, our government will be chosen by you and your schoolmates now studying the good and the bad of past history.

This is surely very important. Indeed, the more you know of the past the better you are able to judge the present and plan for the future. This is a good reason, but not the only reason for studying history.

We may be quite sure that we live in the best of all possible times. And so we do. We may even get a little uppity about it and point proudly to what we have done. But let's not forget

Why does a dog turn around before he lies down?

The dog has been in the world a long time. He was here millions of years before the coming of the human family. For most of his history he was an animal of the wilds. He loved to roam the prairies and stalk his prey through the tall grasses.

Certain habits added to his comfort and safety in the wilds. He could not burrow and he could not climb trees. So he had to make his bed on the ground. He would turn around and around in a small circle, beating the grasses into a little round mat. It was comfortable and it was safe. If he had just flopped down, he would have made a break in the grasses that could be seen from afar. When he made his little round bed, he did not disturb the patterns of light and shadow in the grasses. His enemies could not spot him unless they stumbled upon him.

Our dog today has kept many of his wild habits. Maybe he figures he will need them some time.

Youth Fined $25 For Damaging Rural Mail Boxes

DUNCAN—Three youths each were fined $25 and $350 costs by Magistrate A. C. Sutton in police court here Wednesday after they pleaded guilty to a charge of damaging a rural route mail box at Fairbridge.

The charge followed several weeks of investigation by RCMP following numbers of complaints during the last few weeks.

Police testified the boys seemed to have more time on their hands than they knew what to do with, and drove around the countryside damaging mail boxes "where they did not think the mail boxes looked quite right."

The youths were Donald Ellis Paton, 18; Richard Kerr, 18, and Hannan Jorgenson, 19. Magistrate Sutton advised the youths "to find something worthwhile with which to occupy your time."

Artists' Display Shows Much Talent In Coombs Area

COOMBS—An exhibition by artists within the district last week showed a striking amount of talent.

Exhibits included water colors, pastels and oil paintings, mostly showing local scenes. Outstanding were several by Dr. M. Urie of Parksville who has only recently taken up the hobby of painting.

Besides paintings, many other exhibits attracted attention, including a silk quilt over 120 years old, lent by Mrs. W. E. Montgomery of Qualicum Beach, and a tucked shirt made on one of the first sewing machines ever invented.

Other examples included teaching methods from the local schools, puppets, plastic work, pottery, wrought iron, woodwork, a hooked rug, brass work and plastic jewelry.

Parksville Area Aims for Hospital

By H. V. S. PAGE, Times Correspondent

PARKSVILLE—Possibility of building a secondary hospital in this area to care for convalescent and chronic cases is seen as the likely outcome of a public meeting which has been called for March 19 in the Island Hall here.

It has been called by Mount Arrowsmith Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, and invitations have gone out to all communities which lie within School District 69 (Qualicum), which have been asked to send representatives from all interested groups.

Invitations sent out call attention to the fact that School District 69 is the only district on the Island which hasn't its own hospital. Reports that Nanaimo is anxious to take this district into its own hospital area have raised the question of a local hospital. It is pointed out that there is a real case for a local hospital which can care for light and chronic cases of illness, thus lightening the burden of Nanaimo General Hospital and making it possible for patients to keep in closer touch with their families than if they were in a hospital outside of the home area.

Government grants are available from both federal and provincial sources for such a project and it is felt that while times are prosperous there is a better chance of raising funds. Government grants would cover half the cost. Support also will be proposed for a resolution of the bedside nursing committee in Courtenay, which points out that while municipalities can take care of the needs of their areas, the real need for hospital care comes in the unorganized areas. School District 69 extends from Nanaimo in the south to Bowser in the north and is the centre of a semicircle of

4 Men Escape 100-Ft. Plunge Near Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Four men, employees of Pacific Sheet Metal, Nanaimo, escaped serious injury Thursday when the truck in which they were riding plunged down a 100-foot bank on the Alberni Mountain Highway.

According to reports, John Lestrang was driving at slow speed when the truck left the road and went down the 60-degree bank.

George Welsh was thrown from the truck into a small creek at the foot of the slope and was taken with Lestrang and Eric Burkenshaw to West Coast General Hospital. Their injuries were minor.

Fourth occupant of the truck was Chester Newton. All were from Nanaimo.

Pat Bay Cemetery Decision Saturday

SIDNEY—A decision will be announced Saturday on the application of Memorial Gardens (Canada) Ltd. to establish a cemetery at Patricia Bay.

The application was made to the zoning board of North Saanich regulated area, and was the subject of debate at a public meeting in North Saanich High school Thursday night.

Representatives of the cemetery interests produced a petition signed by 239 residents who feel additional burial space is needed in the area. Three of the petitioners attended the meeting.

130, PROTEST

There were about 120 names of Patricia Bay residents on a petition of protest, and close to 50 of them were present.

They complained of the possible effect of the development on their wells and on property values, and stated further that there already is adequate burial space on Saanich peninsula.

Zoning board chairman was Dr. A. B. Nash, and other members present were C. F. Seymour and James Gardner.

Victoria lawyers Alan B. Macfarlane and Lloyd G. McKenzie represented the cemetery interests and protesting groups respectively.

COAL-RICH COMOX BIDS FOR NEW POWER PLANT

COURTENAY—B.C. Power Commission has been asked to consider the Comox area as a site for one of its proposed thermal power generating plants.

In a letter to the commission, John Gardner, commission manager here and president of the local Chamber of Commerce, stated that the largest coal reserves on Vancouver Island are in this district.

Further, he said, the district is close to the centre of Vancouver Island. Known coal reserves are estimated at 20,000,000 tons.

HISTORY OF HANGING

Murderers Freed From Threat Of Gallows Rarely Kill Again

In view of the public interest in the recent vote to abolish the death penalty in Britain, and the immensity of the report of the Canadian committee on capital punishment, which will be brought down in the Commons during this session, the Victoria Daily Times is publishing a series of articles by noted writer Arthur Koestler. They are condensed from his forthcoming book, "Reflections on Hanging."

By ARTHUR KOESTLER

Dostoevsky says somewhere that if in the last moment before being executed, a man, however brave, were given the alternative of spending the rest of his days on the top of a bare rock with only enough space to sit on it, he would choose it with relief.

The alternative to capital punishment is imprisonment "for life." This really means imprisonment for a length of period determined by the demands of public safety and the rehabilitation of the prisoner.

The arguments most often heard against this alternative can be classified as follows:

(a) It is unsafe. The murderer serving a life sentence is usually let out after a number of years and may commit another murder.

(b) To keep a murderer, who cannot be reformed, in prison to the end of his life is more cruel than a quick death.

(c) Imprisonment is not cruel enough; modern prisons pamper the criminal instead of punishing him—plus the subsidiary argument about the burden to the taxpayer, the strain on prison wardens, the danger of escape.

MURDERERS AS A CLASS

That it would be unsafe to let murderers live is an argument in which many well-meaning people believe, though they loathe the idea of hanging and would rather do away with it. But the public's idea of the murderer is modelled on exceptional and untypical cases (Heath, Haigh, Crippen, Christie) which receive the widest publicity and are part of the national folklore.

The figures show that during the 50 years 1900-1949 in only one out of 12 cases was the murderer found so dangerous for public safety or his crime so "unardonable" that he was executed—that means only 8 per cent of the total. In Scotland, the proportion was even lower: 4 per cent. Every analysis of the motive and circumstances under which the crime was committed, shows the extreme rarity of the cold-blooded type of murder. Half a century ago, Sir John Macdonell, Master of the Supreme Court, analysed the criminal statistics from 1886 to 1935 and concluded his survey in the following words (the emphasis is mine): "I am inclined to think that this crime is not generally the crime of the so-called criminal classes but is in most cases rather an incident in prison because they have yielded to temptation under the pressure of a combination of circumstances unlikely to recur."

In August, 1952, there was a total of 91 reprieved murderers among the prison population of England and Wales, out of which 82, that is, more than 90 per cent, belonged to the star class. Thus the large majority of reprieved murderers are unusually well-behaved model prisoners. What happens when they are let loose on society after serving their sentence? Do the reformed lambs turn into wolves again?

In these six countries altogether six convicted murderers have committed crimes of violence after their release in the course of the last 30 years.

RARE INCIDENTS

The Royal Commission concludes "The evidence that we ourselves received in these countries was also to the effect that released murderers who commit further crimes of violence are rare, and those who become useful citizens are common."

These facts are so amazing and contrary to public belief that they call for some explanation. Broadly speaking, it boils down to this: that the vast majority of murderers are either "crazy" in the elastic, non-legal sense of the word, or momentarily "crazed" ("mad" in American parlance); because a normal person in a normal state of mind just does not commit murder. Hence murderers are, by and large, either mentally abnormal, or acting under abnormal circumstances. The former belong not to prison but to the United States of America. It may be objected that this unanimous body of evidence refers only to the more harmless type of murderer who was reprieved precisely because they were considered harmless. But the experience of countries which have abolished capital punishment and where, therefore, every murderer is automatically reprieved, whether considered "harmless" or not, is exactly the same as in countries where murderers are still being executed.

MURDERERS TURNED LOOSE

The answer is given in the statistics of the Home Office, of Scotland Yard and the Central After Care Association. During the 20-year period 1928-1948, 174 people were sentenced to life, and of these 112 had been released at the end of the period in question. Of these 112, only one was alleged to have committed a second murder: Walter Graham Rowland, and he was one of the most probable victims of mistaken identity. The same was experienced in the Commonwealth countries and in the United States of America.

"High tribute was paid to the general conduct in prison, and on release, of reprieved murderers... The testimony of the Home Office witnesses was as follows: "A very large number of murderers are, in other respects, perfectly decent people, and a very large proportion of them, if they were let out, would be very unlikely to commit any other murder or any other crime. They are really a class by themselves; they are quite different from the ordinary criminal as a rule... It is certainly not common experience that a murderer who has been released after serving part of a life sentence returns to prison... as to committing further murders on release, that might be entirely ruled out."

None of the prison governors or officials dissented from this opinion, although the majority were probably anti-abolitionist. Twenty years later the Royal Commission came to the same conclusion:

POPULAR BELIEF

"There is a popular belief that prisoners serving a life sentence, after conviction of murder form a specially troublesome and dangerous class. That is not so. Most find themselves

BETWEEN TIMES

By
NO. X-1, LOCAL 219, TLC

The most encouraging news item I've seen in a long, long time appeared in yesterday's paper:

"Delegates to the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council in future will not state their names when taking part in discussions."

"It was felt some delegates could not properly express themselves, knowing their names would be quoted in the newspaper accounts of the meeting."

Yes, this is indeed welcome news. I am glad the TLC delegates realize a man can't be expected to stand up for something when people are going to be told what he stands up for.

This step toward utter anonymity will do wonders for the Trades and Labor Congress, the union membership, and especially readers of the newspapers.

Readers of the newspapers are exposed to too many names. Ever since some editor in the distant past mumbled the cliché "names make news," newspapers have dashed about, putting names into the paper.

The result is people are apt to learn what other people are doing, saying, or promising.

I think we should follow the path which has been pointed out by the TLC, and remove this mass of names from the paper.

Instead of referring to people by names, we should refer to them by number.

For instance:

"Mr. 33 of 333, 33rd Avenue, was rushed to hospital Thursday afternoon following a collision between a car and truck at the corner of 4th Street and 5th. Driver of the car, Mr. 66 of 666, 66th Avenue, was uninjured."

"Mr. 33, a driver for the 1617 meat market, suffered two or three injuries."

The Society Page would feature:

"Miss 77 82 967, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. 66 967, exchanged vows with Mr. 13 1313, son of Mrs. 44 1313 and the late Mr. 1313 in 1st Church yesterday. Rev. Father XII officiated."

"For the ceremony, the bride was gownned in a ballerina dress... the maid of honor, Miss 91 789, wore pale yellow. While the bridal couple signed the register, Mrs. 14 61-3456 sang a solo."

You can see what an improvement this will be over the old-fashioned system of printing names.

And think what a boon it will be to us reporters! No names to be spelled incorrectly.

Anonymity, here we come.

THEVEN TO SSEVEN

Soda Straws Help Cure Awkward Lisp

By PETE LOUDON

Ask Billy how old he is and he'll reply, "Seven," with slight emphasis on the "s."

Not long ago he would have said "Theven."

But he overcame his lisp, thanks to Miss Marie C. Crickmay, patience, psychology and soda straws.

Miss Crickmay is a speech therapist employed by Greater Victoria School Board to teach youngsters with articulate defects how to overcome them.

During the school day children are defeating stuttering, lisps, dyslalia (an inability to pronounce certain consonants) and other speech irregularities.

Often it is a case of freeing a youngster from a false and continual embarrassment which ultimately can have serious psychological results.

BLOW AWAY

The soda straws mentioned above are valuable aid to youngsters like Billy. They virtually blow lisps away.

With open lips, straw between teeth, thus controlling the tongue, soon it learns to avoid the position that makes see-saw sound like thee-thaw.

A stuffer often results from nervous conditions from outside influences. Sometimes a correction is obtained by discussions with parents which restore peace of mind for the child.

Miss Crickmay, who studied for her profession in England (there are no speech therapists trained at present in Canada), says stutters are almost all boys. She teaches them in groups, spending two and a half days a week in the schools.

"They often will decline to answer questions in classes, choosing to be considered 'dumb' rather than display their stutters," the teacher states.

Almost all the girls she helps have lisps. But boys are still in the majority and most difficulty is noticed at the junior high school level.

Thanks to modern school board understanding that there is more to education than the three Rs, there is a high percentage of speech corrections in this area. Victoria was the first centre in B.C. to have a speech therapist. The project has been under way since 1941.

Why is the story of speech and soda straws told now? As Billy would say, "this is education week."

Fourth Gang Member Jailed On Store Burglary Charges

John Burke, 17, 8 Eaton, was sentenced to one year definite and two years indefinite at young offenders' unit at Oakalla when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday on two store burglary charges.

He was one of four men arrested when police raided the Eaton road home. Officers waited in the house, and arrested each one as they returned at intervals.

Burke, earlier transferred from juvenile court, had pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and theft at Kam's Market, 350 Burnside.

On Feb. 17, and Tillicum Meat Market, 2904 Tillicum, Feb. 22.

Jack Robert Stone, 24, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary; Kenneth George Perry, 24, to nine months at Oakalla and John Layton Smith, 22, six months definite at young offenders' unit and two years indefinite.

PARK GROUP TO STUDY TOTEM SITE

Beacon Hill Plan Proposed

City parks committee has been asked to report to council on a site for the world's tallest totem pole.

Council Thursday heard Times publisher Stuart Keate and city architect Charles E. Craig speak in support of two sites on the seaward slopes of Beacon Hill Park.

Mr. Keate told council the Times had undertaken the "tallest totem" project after it was learned in December that Indian carvers Mungo and David Martin and Henry Hunt were facing unemployment. A recent government-sponsored project for rehabilitation of totems at Thunderbird Park had exceeded its appropriation.

He said since the idea for the tall totem had been publicized, nearly 8,000 persons had bought shares and various city organizations had donated time and effort to make the project a success. Dedication of the totem is planned for April 29 to coincide with reopening of ferry connections with Port Angeles.

FOUR SITES

Four sites had been suggested. Mr. Keate said—the crest of Mount Tolmie, the Causeway, Thunderbird and Beacon Hill Park.

Mount Tolmie he thought was too far from the city centre, the Causeway would be a difficult solution because the totem could only face one direction and would not be pleasing to viewers from both the harbor and the city.

Thunderbird Park was considered crowded. The south slope of Beacon Hill, however, would leave the totem visible from the sea, the air, and even from Port Angeles, if binoculars were used. He said it would be illuminated at night.

Mr. Craig, speaking on behalf of the Victoria chapter, Architects Institute of B.C., said that whatever site was decided upon the chapter would develop the surroundings. He recommended a site near the intersection of Dallas road and the Parkway known commonly as "Lovers' Lane." Here he said was the lush growth which would best background the totem.

Mr. Keate said the totem would be a gift to the city free of any encumbrance. He expressed thanks to all who had so far assisted with the project and asked council for an early decision.

After referring the matter to the parks committee, council voted thanks to Mr. Keate, the Times, shareholders, and those firms which had already assisted.

Share subscriptions in the tallest totem project now total $4188.50. Shares may be obtained at the main office of the Times.

RCMP Alert City Police

City police were on the lookout today for cracksmen who blew a safe at Island Bottling Ltd. at Nanaimo overnight and escaped with about $500.

About $100 of the loot was recovered on grounds of the plant this morning, RCMP at the up-island centre reported.

They said the opened safe was discovered by an employee of the firm when he arrived for work this morning.

"It appears to have been the work of experts," police said. The plant and office are at 20 Fifth Street, on the southern outskirts of the city.

Road Crashes Injure Two

Two men were injured in traffic accidents early this morning on Esquimalt Road.

Most seriously hurt was Edwin Young, 31, 866 Admirals.

He suffered facial cuts, a right arm injury and shock when the car he was driving crashed into a telephone pole and parked car at about 5:05 a.m.

Hospital authorities said his condition at noon was good.

Esquimalt police said he apparently went to sleep at the wheel of his car.

The car failed to make a turn on Esquimalt Road near Duns-muir, snapped off a telephone pole and struck the parked vehicle.

Damage to the parked auto, owned by Gordon Schmutz, 804 Esquimalt Road, was estimated at $200, and to the Young car $300.

Motorcyclist Robert L. Lally, 1368 Grant, required hospital attention after the motorcycle he was riding in the 600 block, Esquimalt Road, struck a parked auto shortly after midnight.

Police said the man was temporarily blinded by snow. He received abrasions to his right side and leg.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—In our part of Saanich the frogs began in full chorus two or three days ago. What is their body heat that they can so sing as they sit in water not far above the freezing point? B.L.

A.—As compared with quadrupeds and man, which are warm-blooded creatures, frogs have no body heat. They are of the same temperature as the water or their other environment.

Q.—Is the rate of murder in the United States known? R.L.D.

A.—There are official figures. The complete figures for the 12 months of 1955 have not yet been made public. During the first half of 1955 murder and manslaughter were known to have wiped out 3,390 lives. During the whole of 1954, murders and non-negligent manslaughter, as deaths are classified in the United States, totalled 6,850.

Mustard From Switzerland
In Tubes Like Toothpaste

By PENNY SAVER

It seems that whenever a manufacturer wants to successfully put over a product, he either squirts or squeezes it at the customers. Popular household "bombs" have covered every type of liquid, and now, running a close second in dispensing containers are tubes, so that you really have to look twice or you'll wind up with the toothpaste every time. The latest item to be offered in tubes is imported, prepared mustard from Switzerland. The tube is the same size as a "large, economy-sized" toothpaste, and costs 35 cents.

Another mustard, made on this continent, is advertised as "continental-style," meaning, of course, European-style. It is hot—really hot, and not to be taken in large quantities. A jar with snap-on plastic lid costs 29 cents.

If you like these hot relishes, then you'll also be interested in the fresh and pure horseradish that will give zest to any dish with which it's served. An eight-ounce jar costs 37 cents.

ACT URGED TO PROTECT CHILDREN

WESTBANK, B.C. (BUP)—At Westbank, a community centre across Lake Okanagan from Kelowna, the women's institute has applied to the provincial government for an act which will make it illegal for parents or guardians to leave children unattended in their homes.

The request was prompted by the high incidence across the country of the deaths of children by fire in the absence of adults.

Mothers' Club
Names Officers

Mrs. H. McGee was elected president of St. Louis College Mothers' Club at the recent annual meeting. Mrs. R. J. Caldwell is vice-president; Mrs. A. J. Gilbert, recording secretary; Mrs. L. Orton, corresponding; and Mrs. R. Smith, treasurer. Councillors are Mrs. C. Hinchcliffe, Mrs. L. MacDonald, Mrs. A. Scurrah, Mrs. E. R. Teece and Mrs. J. Comerford.

Arrangements were made for the annual St. Patrick's tea and home cooking sale to be held at the school on March 17, from 2:30 to 5 p.m. Mrs. Lew MacDonald is general convener and Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Teece are in charge of home cooking.

Tolmie—A panel discussion on "School and Classroom Management" will be featured at a meeting of Tolmie PTA on Monday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. E. M. Taylor will be chairman and others on the panel will be Mrs. D. Greenhalgh, Mrs. G. Welsh, M. Patterson, and H. D. O'Connell, principal.

Soup is always welcome with the noon-time or evening meal. If you're in a bit of a rut with the type of soups you've been serving, read on, and maybe you'll get a few ideas for variations.

Here's a mixture of tomato juice, celery, carrots, onions, herbs and spices, and the result is Consomme Madrilene. A 12-ounce tin costs 25 cents. This same consomme, clear, costs 35 cents. Crab soup, something I've never tried, may be served for 38 cents, and Creme Mushroom Bisque is 33 cents.

Turtle Soup, one that we often hear about but seldom try, costs 85 cents for a 15½-ounce tin. Cream of Oyster soup needs only to be heated. It is 34 cents. Clam Chowder is 35 cents.

For a quick lunch or snack, Creamed Tuna a la King is all ready to be heated and served. Serve it on toast, rice, noodles, patty shells or waffles, and top it with a shake or two of paprika. Mmm-m-m... and all for 49 cents.

When you're turning your thought to dessert, perhaps a cake will meet approval. A Cherry Pound Cake, which used to be a real production, now may be made with the minimum of effort and time, because you may buy a mix for just 63 cents. Serve it with sherry or ice cream for dessert, and for tea or coffee time later. Another new mix I hadn't seen before is Johnny Cake. This popular cake, which may be eaten with almost anything, costs 36 cents.

Mauve and white stocks, pink tulips and heather in an Irish hat, flanked by green candles in silver candleabra, centred the refreshment table, carrying out a theme for St. Patrick's Day, the date of the couple's marriage. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Doug Angus, Mr. and Mrs. Derek Cove, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Townshend, Mr. and Mrs. Monty Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. G. Layne, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bennett, Miss Mary Lou Findler and Mr. Gary Webster.

RUINS EXPLORED

Eats Salad With Fingers When Guest of Lebanese

By Lynne Newton-Lowes

Soon after arriving in Lebanon, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lowes were invited to have luncheon with a Lebanese family. In a letter written to her parents Dr. and Mrs. William Newton of the Saanich Experimental Farm (parts of which are printed in this column) Mrs. Lowes says, "It was a memorable day!"

Beirut, Lebanon.

"Last Sunday we drove to Baalbek which is about 125 KM from here toward Damascus and then a bit north. There are some wonderful Roman ruins there. The Corinthian columns of the temples of Jupiter and Bacchus are nearly intact. The designs on them are very ornate and raised from the solid stone. The favorite design of the Romans seems to be the egg and the arrow, symbols of life and death, the beginning and the end."

"On the roof of the Temple of Bacchus are magnificent carvings of various gods—Mercury, Diana, Venus and others. Excavations are still going on. Apparently, not too long ago, these ruins were half covered and it was at that time that the Turks used the site as a fortress and so destroyed some parts."

"We went there with a Lebanese family (one son called Churchill). They took us to another family in Baalbek for lunch and we had a real Lebanese meal. Everything is eaten separately. First, a finely chopped sort of salad mixture which you eat with your fingers using cabbage leaves. Then another salad of tomato peppers and onion, both in salad oil. Then, a national dish made by pounding mutton meat for hours and hours on a big stone mortar and pestle-like arrangement. The women in the kitchen sit around in a circle and pound away in a particular rhythm, often singing as they do it. The meat, after all this, is quite unrecognizable. Then the women on the outside of the circle shape the paste into hollow bells that are baked in an oven for a short time. This is one way of eating it. The favorite way with the Lebanese however, is to eat the paste in raw form along with the flat unleavened Arabic bread. (Peter and I ate it cooked.)"

Acquires Taste for Turkish Coffee

"After that came big bowls of fruit, then the thick black coffee. I have become quite fond of Turkish coffee and must learn to make it."

"On our way back we went to Beit et Dien which is the palace of the president. We were taken through the garden, conference rooms, steam baths and the museum. The building was impressive and sat rather isolated on the hillside overlooking a deep gorge. Although the palace was open, the president was not there."

"Then, the Lebanese friend we were traveling with insisted we visit another of his friends who turned out to be a Judge in Beirut. (The equivalent of a Supreme Court judge and QC at home.) We got in on more celebrations here for the Judge's wife had just given him a son after four daughters. This calls for special celebrations in Lebanon and especially in the case of the Judge, he had waited so long for a son. Guests were treated to candied almonds, sweet cakes and a dish of very sweet gelatin made of rice flour, honey sugar and nuts. It was good!"

"Most of the apartments here are rented on a six month to yearly basis so we are finding difficulties in securing a place to stay other than a hotel. Large apartments, very average in appointments, cost 300 LL per month which is approximately $100 and that is without fuel or electricity. In a building called La Residence, which is a new block of apartments that you can rent by the week, the cost is 450LL (one LL is about $3.22 so you see living here is quite expensive.) Food, I think is cheaper. Fruit and vegetables are plentiful and cheap, but extras and proteins are high."

"Apart from the eating and sleeping problems however, Beirut is quite wonderful!"

700 OF ALGERIAN MOB ARRESTED IN PARIS

PARIS (UP)—Police arrested 700 Algerian marchers today. They were part of a mob of 10,000 converging on the National Assembly where the government's Algerian policy was being discussed.

Two truck drivers, caught between the demonstrators and riot police, were knifed.

The protest march grew out of a surprise general strike by about half of the nearly 200,000 Algerians in France to show their militant opposition to Premier Guy Mollet's demands for special powers to deal with the spreading rebellion in Algeria.

Two Children Die in Fire

STEWART, B.C. (CP)—Two children—three-year-old boy and a four-month-old baby—died in a fire which destroyed the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown, in near by Hyder, Alaska.

They were alone in the house when the fire broke out.

Mr. Brown, a logger, was at work and the mother had stepped out for a few minutes to visit a neighbor.

She returned to see the house in flames but before help could arrive the building was destroyed.

Hyder, a lumbering town, is 1½ miles west of this seaport village at the head of Portland Canal. The Alaska boundary bisects the canal.

ANCIENT CITY

Marseilles in France was founded by a colony of Greeks about 600 B.C.

Will YOU have an independent income?

Now is the time to arrange through a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY for the little it will take to brighten the days when you must stop working. You can purchase an Annuity NOW to come due at age 50, 55, 60 or 65, or other ages.

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE—Suppose you are a man of 28 and want an Annuity of $100 a month, beginning at 65. Your monthly premium would be $16.44.

AT AGE 65 the Government will begin paying you $100 a month as long as you live! If you die within 10 years after age 65, the monthly payments will continue to your heirs for the balance of that 10 years. Thus, you will have paid $7,299.36 for a minimum return of $12,000.00—which will be even greater if you live past 75!

IF YOU DIE BEFORE 65 the Government will pay your heirs the total sum paid up to the date of your death plus 4% compound interest.

There are several plans to choose from. For detailed information, consult your DISTRICT ANNUITIES REPRESENTATIVE, or mail the coupon below, postage free.

Builder Fined $50, Ordered to Pay $761 Back Wages

In Saanich police court Thursday, Martin Hansen, 638 Dupplin, was fined $50 and directed to pay back wages of $761.75 when he pleaded guilty to a charge under the Minimum Wage Act.

Court was told he hired a man as a carpenter at $1.25 an hour, and paid him only $25 from Aug. 31, 1955, to Jan. 26, 1956.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall directed him to pay the employee wages owing of $761.75, or in default spend two months in jail. Hansen was given 60 days to pay the wages.

The Victorian Order of Nurses is helping to make more hospital beds available by nursing patients in their homes.

IT WAS WELT, NOT BELT; CROSSWORD PRIZE NOW $150

A matter of relative distance fooled a lot of crossworders this week and no one came up with an answer to the puzzle.

For the definition "on a man's apparel this is far down" the answer was the "welt" of his shoe rather than his belt, which is only half way down his body.

With no winner the prize jumps another $25. The full explanation for last week's puzzle, with the new puzzle worth $150 to a bonus winner, is on Page 25.

Means Test Change Needs Provincial OK

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial governments would have to approve any change in means-test regulations governing old-age assistance payments, Health Minister Martin said today.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) asked in the Commons whether the federal government would consider changing the basis of valuing homes owned by pensioners.

He was referring to the $10 maximum pensions paid to needy persons between 65 and 69, jointly financed by federal and provincial governments. Persons over 70 receive a universal $40 pension without a means test.

"Mr. Knowles said the means test regulations provide that 5 per cent of the assessed value of a house is counted as income of a home-owning pensioner. But home assessments were being increased in Winnipeg and elsewhere. Would the regulation be changed so that the pension would not be reduced?"

Mr. Martin replied that the regulations are devised by federal and provincial governments. The central government has no control over them.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The maximum interest rate on federal government insured loans under the National Housing Act will be raised from 5 1/2 to 5 per cent March 12, Public Works Minister Robert Winters announced in parliament today.

SOVIET CHIEFS REACH BRITAIN ON APRIL 18

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev will arrive April 18 for their much discussed trip to Britain. And they will stay 10 days, two days longer than originally planned.

The British foreign office and Moscow radio disclosed the arrangements in identical announcements today.

Terrorist Archbishop Deported

Latest U.K. Move In Cyprus Crisis

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—Archbishop Makarios, bearded 43-year-old leader of the campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece, today was deported from this British Mediterranean colony.

British authorities, announcing that Makarios had been sent away with three other Greek Orthodox Church leaders, said the action was taken "in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government."

A statement said Makarios had refused to abandon the "weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

It said British authorities have found evidence he was "personally implicated" in the activities of EOKA, an underground organization which has used violence in pressing the union-with-Greece campaign.

The statement said Governor Sir John Harding, in negotiations with Makarios, had gone to the "limit of conciliation and concession" in the hope that the archbishop might be "induced to denounce violence."

COMMITTED TO VIOLENCE
"This hope now has been disappointed by the archbishop's refusal to abandon the weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

The government has therefore reluctantly concluded that the archbishop now personally constitutes a major obstacle to return to peaceful conditions and that his influence must therefore be removed from the island in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government.

Deported along with Makarios were Bishop Kyprianos—one of the three senior bishops of the island—and two other priests.

The four Greek Orthodox churchmen were flown to an unknown destination.

The deportation orders were signed by governor Sir John Harding under emergency regulations which have been in effect as a result of violence throughout the island.

British paratroopers, meanwhile, searched the archbishop's home.

Negotiations between Makarios and British representatives on the future of Cyprus broke down last week and Britain announced it would make a determined effort to end terrorist violence.

IRONWORKER
"Dawley ran a hot dog stand at Horseshoe Bay in 1951, and joined an ironworkers' union in 1952 when he worked on the Granville street bridge," Cpl. Nuttall said.

He added that he had picked Dawley up in Montreal after his escape from Vancouver General Hospital in 1954.

Other witnesses were A. Hoare, B.C. Electric Security officer, former Vancouver detective, who identified Dawley as being a man under investigation that led to a conviction in Vancouver in 1940.

Det. Sgt. Donald Ross, Vancouver police, corroborated Hoare's evidence. Det. W. V. Barkley, who investigated some of Dawley's activities in 1940, also testified.

PM Gives Final Word Today on Tax Deal

Bennett Sure St. Laurent Will Bow To B.C.'s Concept of 'Fair Rental'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today his government will tell the federal-provincial conference later today "how far we can go" and then leave it to the provinces to do what they want about fiscal arrangements.

After the morning session of the conference, he told reporters he or Finance Minister Harris will reply to various proposals put forward by premiers at the opening session.

The prime minister said he heard no new suggestions this morning from seven premiers outlining their proposals.

These constituted all except Nova Scotia—whose Premier Hicks was delayed by a storm—Alberta and Newfoundland.

Pre-conference information from federal sources was to the effect that, unless some new concept of federal-provincial fiscal relations was suggested at the conference, the central government would stick by the tax-sharing formula it proposed in January.

Before this morning's meeting, Premier Frost of Ontario said he would propose major changes in the tax-sharing plan but added he was willing to consider compromises.

"UNFAIR," SAYS BENNETT
Premier Bennett of British Columbia, only other premier advocating a major boost in the proposed federal tax formula, described the federal offer as "unfair."

The central government has proposed federal tax deductions of 10 per cent of the personal income tax, nine per cent of corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties in provinces which levy tolls in these fields.

In addition there would be federal equalization payments to bring the per capita direct tax yields of the less wealthy provinces to the average of the top two—Ontario and British Columbia.

Mr. Bennett said that in the case of Quebec the equalization payments and direct tax deductions would amount to federal allowances in that province of 26 per cent of personal income tax, 2 per cent on corporation income and 50 per cent on succession duties.

All B.C. wants, he said, is a 20-10-50 deal.

"We want a fair rental and I'm sure we'll get it," Premier Duplessis of Quebec declined to make any statement, saying "we're here just to get news."

He has notified the Vancouver School Board he does not intend to apply for a leave of absence for the coming school year.

Principal at Magee High School, Vancouver, before his election to the provincial legislature in the 1953 general election, Mr. Webster said the school board "will place me somewhere."

His present plan is to continue to sit as a private member for Vancouver-East until the next election.

In his letter of resignation to the party, Mr. Webster said "my reasons are entirely personal and not related in any way to policy matters or to current political developments."

"I hope to return to work in the field of education from which I retired three years ago to devote my full time to public service. For that reason, I do not propose to be a candidate in the next provincial election."

Mr. Webster has been active in the CCF party in B.C. since its inception in 1933. He tried for the House of Commons four times—1935, 1940, 1945 and 1949. Four successive defeats failed to discourage him. He was prepared to try again, when he was called on to take over provincial leadership.

He found a greater measure of success in running for Vancouver parks board, to which he was elected each term from 1940.

EARLY ELECTION
"The CCF party's formal announcement of Mr. Webster's resignation said only:

"Mr. Webster commands the unqualified confidence and loyalty of our legislative caucus, and provincial executive, and has been unanimously elected by our provincial convention in three successive years."

CCFers are convinced an early election is in the offing, and several prominent party officials expressed serious concern at the leadership situation.

The CCF group in the House spent the better part of two hours attempting to get Mr. Webster to change his mind at the post-session caucus.

President Noel Murphy of the B.C. Social Credit League said in Vancouver Mr. Webster's "contribution to the B.C. political scene was a large one" and felt his resignation "seriously impairs the aspirations of the CCF party."

"A terrific loss to public affairs," was the way Arthur Laing, Liberal leader, felt about Mr. Webster's resignation.

"He had a quality of civility badly needed in the present B.C. house," Mr. Laing said. "I am awfully sorry to see him go. He will be missed."

Harding Favored As His Successor

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster has resigned as leader of the B.C. CCF Party, and will not seek re-election in the next provincial election.

The CCF will name a new leader at the annual convention April 6 and 7, in Vancouver.

The CCF House caucus will meet in Vancouver the night before the convention opens to decide on a recommendation to the convention, on the leadership issue.

Procedure under the CCF constitution calls for the first nomination for leadership to come from the caucus.

Randolph Harding is considered to have the support of the majority of CCFers in B.C., if he would allow his name to stand.

Mr. Webster's resignation was made public today by provincial president Frank McKenzie, and CCF whip Arthur Turner. The announcement came as the CCF leader marked his 57th birthday today.

He told The Times from Vancouver "my mind was made up six months ago."

"I haven't been able to adjust myself to full-time work in politics," said Mr. Webster. "I didn't want to go into another election, and thought now is the time."

The 14-member CCF group in the legislature were told of Mr. Webster's resignation plans at a late caucus the night the legislative session prorogued.

They kept the secret, because Mr. Webster wanted it made clear his resignation had nothing to do with the turmoil surrounding the dying hours of the session.

WINCH APPROACHED

Approaches are reported to have been made to Harold Winch, the MP for Vancouver East, asking whether he would return to leadership of the provincial organization, even though it is known he would not find majority support in the caucus. He resigned as party leader after the spring legislative session of 1953.

His apparent to the CCF leadership is Robert Strachan, the CCF M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle, an ambitious socialist with a fighting reputation.

Mr. Webster will return to his first love—the teaching profession.

He has notified the Vancouver School Board he does not intend to apply for a leave of absence for the coming school year.

NEW VANCOUVER SNOW AGAIN BLOCKS TRAFFIC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Traffic moved smoothly on streets dried by a noon sun today, just hours after a squall dumped up to four inches of fluffy snow on the area.

Traffic was tied up for the second time in three days. The squall caught sanding crews unaware, striking just after 5 a.m.

Traffic across Lions' Gate Bridge over Burrard Inlet backed up two miles into West Vancouver.

'Don't Get Tough' Glubb Warns Britain

LONDON (CP)—Jordan's ousted British military chief has warned Britain not to let his dismissal provoke a get-tough policy toward the strategic Middle East kingdom.

He says that might drive Jordan into the arms of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Lt.-Gen. Sir John Glubb, head of Jordan's Arab Legion until King Hussein fired him last week, issued his caution Thursday night as another British veteran in Arab politics counselled Prime Minister Eden on the Middle East crisis.

Sir Alexander Kirkbride, former British envoy to Jordan, met Eden after a two-day visit to Amman, during which he conferred with 20-year-old King Hussein.

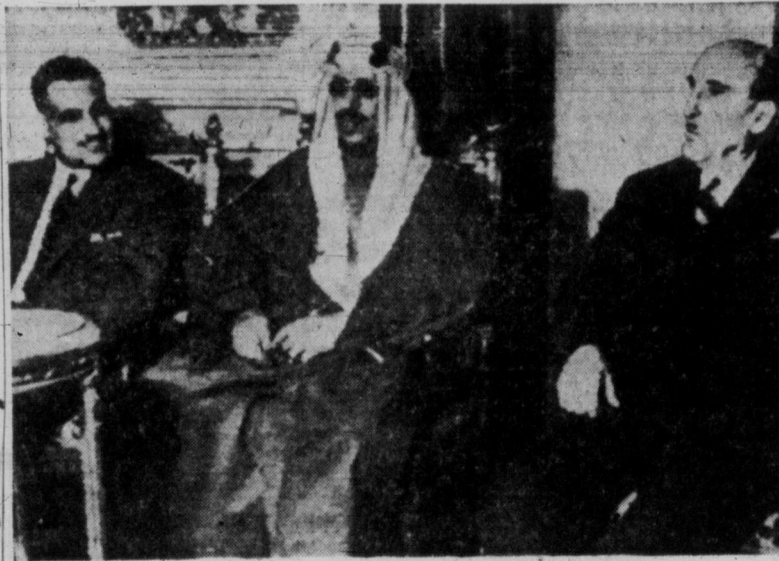

Meanwhile, the government chiefs of Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria went into the fourth day of their conference in Cairo, promising that an important announcement would be made. They were expected to offer formally to replace the British subsidy of some $9,000,000 a year which has been supporting the Arab Legion.

In a letter to The Times, Glubb says it would "be a serious political error to get tough with Jordan at this stage."

Glubb warned that to cut off the British subsidy to the Arab Legion in Jordan "would either destroy Jordan or force the king into the arms of friends who would almost certainly ruin him."

He believes Hussein might have been influenced by Egypt and Saudi Arabia, who "have made no secret of their desire for his removal."

Glubb went to Buckingham Palace today to receive his knighthood from the Queen. The honor was conferred after his arrival last week from Jordan.

Maritimer Admits Bank Holdup

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 30-year-old father from Edmundston, N.B., pleaded guilty in court today to the $1,900 robbery of a downtown Winnipeg branch of the Toronto-Dominion bank Wednesday.

IT WAS WELT, NOT BELT;
CROSSWORD PRIZE NOW $150

A matter of relative distance fooled a lot of crossworders this week and no one came up with an answer to the puzzle.

For the definition "on a man's apparel this is far down" the answer was the "welt" of his shoe rather than his belt, which is only half way down his body.

With no winner the prize jumps another $25. The full explanation for last week's puzzle, with the new puzzle worth $150 to a bonus winner, is on Page 25.

Play Off

Tied for Honors

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Manitoba and Ontario rinks will meet in a playoff for the Canadian curling championship.

The playoff was forced when Manitoba dropped a 12-10 decision to Saskatchewan in the 11th round of the round-robin tournament and Ontario came from far behind to defeat Nova Scotia, 15-9.

The Manitoba rink, skipped by Billy Walsh of the Winnipeg Fort Rouge Club, entered the final round with eight victories and one loss. That record assured the westerners of at least a playoff berth.

Ontario, with a record of seven victories and two losses, could force a playoff only if the Toronto rink defeated Nova Scotia and Manitoba lost its game. And that's exactly how it turned out.

Ontario appeared headed for defeat until the final two ends when skip Alfie Phillips counted eight—a five in the 11th and a three in the 12th. The Nova Scotians led 9-7 after 10 ends.

This will be the seventh time in the 27-year history of the championship that a playoff has been necessary. The last was in 1953 when Manitoba defeated Quebec in a sudden-death match at Sudbury, Ont.

ADMITS EIGHT CONVICTIONS

Dawley Will Learn Today
If He Goes to Jail for Life

Special to the Times

NANAIMO—Clifford Dawley, 45, admitted in Nanaimo Assize Court today to eight convictions, including the Crown in its case to have him sentenced for "preventive detention" as an habitual criminal.

Conviction could mean that Dawley would spend the rest of his life in jail. Dawley, whose record goes back to 1924, was found guilty Thursday of two charges of cat theft and one of possessing housebreaking implements by night.

Mr. Justice McInnes, on hearing the verdict Thursday, ordered that sentence would be passed today. It was understood, however, that the Crown would endeavour to force "preventive detention" on Dawley following the conviction.

The Crown introduced Dawley's convictions from 1935 onward. He protested one of them, on a charge of robbery with violence, in which it was alleged that a revolver was in his possession. He said he did not possess a revolver on that occasion.

Eight witnesses, mainly detectives, appeared for the Crown. Cpl. Ernest Nuttall, RCMP, Vancouver, whose work is to keep watch on known criminals, said he first saw Dawley in 1951, when he was living on Keefer street in Vancouver with convicted saw blowers.

Dawley ran a hot dog stand at Horseshoe Bay in 1951, and joined an ironworkers' union in 1952, when he worked on the Granville street bridge," Cpl. Nuttall said.

He added that he had picked Dawley up in Montreal after his escape from Vancouver General Hospital in 1954.

Other witnesses were A. Hoare, B.C. Electric Security officer, former Vancouver detective, who identified Dawley as being a man under investigation that led to a conviction in Vancouver in 1940.

Det. Sgt. Donald Ross, Vancouver police, corroborated Hoare's evidence. Det. W. V. Barkley, who investigated some of Dawley's activities in 1940, also testified.

Glubb warned that to cut off the British subsidy to the Arab Legion in Jordan "would either destroy Jordan or force the king into the arms of friends who would almost certainly ruin him."

He believes Hussein might have been influenced by Egypt and Saudi Arabia, who "have made no secret of their desire for my removal."

Palace today to receive his knighthood from the Queen. The honor was conferred after his arrival last week from Jordan.

Some of the other MLAs could do worse than go back to school with Mr. Webster. They've got a lot to learn.

Harding Favored
As His Successor

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster has resigned as leader of the B.C. CCF Party, and will not seek re-election in the next provincial election.

The CCF will name a new leader at the annual convention April 6 and 7 in Vancouver.

The CCF House caucus will meet in Vancouver the night before the convention opens to decide on a recommendation to the convention on the leadership issue.

Procedure under the CCF constitution calls for the first nomination for leadership, to come from the caucus.

Randolph Harding is considered to have the support of the majority of CCF'ers in B.C., if he would allow his name to stand.

Mr. Webster's resignation was made public today by provincial president Frank McKenzie, and CCF whip Arthur Turner. The announcement came as the CCF leader marked his 57th birthday today.

He told The Times from Vancouver "my mind was made up six months ago."

"I haven't been able to adjust myself to full-time work in politics," said Mr. Webster. "I didn't want to go into another election, and thought now is the time."

The 14-member CCF group in the legislature was told of Mr. Webster's resignation plans at a late caucus the night the legislative session prorogued.

They kept the secret, because Mr. Webster wanted it made clear his resignation had nothing to do with the turmoil surrounding the dying hours of the session.

WINCH APPROACHED

Approaches are reported to have been made to Harold Winch, the MP for Vancouver East, asking whether he would return to leadership of the provincial organization, even though it is known he would not find majority support in the caucus. He resigned as party leader after the spring legislative session of 1953.

His apparent to the CCF leadership is Robert Strachan, the CCF MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle, an ambitious socialist with a fighting reputation. Mr. Webster will return to his first love—the teaching profession.

He has notified the Vancouver School Board he does not intend to apply for a leave of absence for the coming school year.

Principal at Magee High School, Vancouver, before his election to the provincial legislature in the 1953 general election, Mr. Webster said "the school board" "will place me somewhere."

His present plan is to continue Continued on Page 15

Archbishop
DeportedLatest U.K. Move
In Cyprus Crisis

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—Archbishop Makarios, bearded 43-year-old leader of the campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece, today was deported from this British Mediterranean colony.

British authorities, announcing that Makarios had been sent away with three other Greek Orthodox Church leaders, said the action was taken "in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government."

A statement said Makarios had refused to abandon the "weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

It said British authorities have found evidence he was "personally implicated" in the activities of EOKA, an underground organization which has used violence in pressing the union-with-Greece campaign.

The statement said Governor Sir John Harding, in negotiations with Makarios, had gone to the "limit of conciliation and concession" in the hope that the archbishop might be "induced to denounce violence."

COMMITTED TO VIOLENCE

"This hope now has been disappointed by the archbishop's refusal to abandon the weapons of violence and intimidation in the pursuit of his political aims."

"The government has therefore reluctantly concluded that the archbishop now personally constitutes a major obstacle to return to peaceful conditions and that his influence must therefore be removed from the island in the interest of promoting peace, order and good government."

Deported along with Makarios were Bishop Kyprianos—one of the three senior bishops of the island—and two other priests.

The four Greek Orthodox churches were flown to an unknown destination.

The deportation orders were signed by governor Sir John Harding under emergency regulations which have been in effect as a result of violence throughout the island.

Ottawa Turns Down
Tax Deal Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government today rejected proposals of provincial governments for changes in its tax-sharing plan at the federal-provincial conference.

"We cannot at this time make any further material concessions that would adversely affect our revenues," Finance Minister Harris told premiers in a statement made public after the conference ended at 3:20 p.m. (MST).

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today his government will tell the federal-provincial conference later today "how far we can go" and then leave it to the provinces to do what they want about fiscal arrangements.

After the morning session of the conference, he told reporters he or Finance Minister Harris will reply to various proposals put forward by premiers at the opening session.

The prime minister said he heard no new suggestions this morning from seven premiers outlining their proposals.

These constituted all except Nova Scotia—whose Premier Hicks was delayed by a storm—Alberta and Newfoundland.

Pre-conference information from federal sources was to the effect that, unless some new
